Reds Rebuffed by China's POWs As 490 of 500 Refuse To Return

Study of Charter Plan, Not Immediate Change, At Stake in Nov. 3 Vote

This is the first in a series on the home rule charter question which will be voted upon in Marion in the Nov. 3 election.

By CHARLES L. MARTIN

Marion voters will be asked to make a decision at the general election Nov. 3 which could be of major importance in the future operation of city government.

They will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on the question "Shall a commission be formed to frame a city charter?" Their answer will determine whether further steps are taken to reorganize municipal government under a "home rule charter."

Those who vote "yes" also will be asked to vote for election of 15 persons to a charter commission. A slate of candidates for election to this commission has been nominated and their names will appear on the ballot next month.

Contrary to a misconception among some city residents, however, a "yes" vote on the question will not mean an immediate change and may not mean any change at all in the form of city government.

EXACTLY WHAT then will the vote next month decide? Actually it will decide whether or not a group of persons serving without pay is to make a year-long study of the city's governmental needs. Based on its findings in this study, the commission would then draw up a city charter to be submitted to the voters for adoption or rejection at the next general election in November of next year.

Only with an affirmative vote for whatever charter is submitted at the 1954 election could there be any change in city government.

Even a majority vote for the charter may not mean a change. The commission could frame a charter calling for continuation of the present form of city government.

If this occurred, city administration would remain the same, but other advantages of the home rule charter would be gained, backers of the plan say.

These advantages arise from the fact the city would set up its own rules of operation designed to meet local needs. Presently nearly all municipal functions are controlled by laws established by the state legislature. Disadvantage of this is that these state laws control all cities (with populations of 5,000 or more) the same regardless of local problems, home rule advocates claim.

On the other hand, the commission could decide on a form which likely would fall under four general classifications and one sub classification of city government in the U. S.

THESE ARE:

1. The mayor-council type, the form which Marion now has.
2. The "strong" mayor-council type.
3. The commission form.
4. The council manager or more popularly the city-manager type.
5. The mayor-administrator plan.

Home rule advocates carefully point out that the city already has home rule powers granted under an amendment to the state constitution in 1912. Under this amendment, they explain, the city has five forms of city government available to it. These forms differ some from those listed above and are as follows:

1. The present mayor-council type.
2. The commission form.
3. The federal plan.
4. The council-manager plan.
5. The home rule charter plan.

They explain that 2, 3, and 4 are optional forms provided under state law and if adopted by any city must be in the exact form prescribed. This means local problems are still not given proper consideration whereas the charter plan allows organization of any one of an almost limitless number of variations of any of these forms to select the one plan best suited to local needs, charter advocates claim.

Each of the different forms will be more fully described in other articles of this series.

Driving force for a home rule charter here is a large committee called the Non-Partisan Home Rule Charter Study Committee. It is composed of men and women representing nearly all phases and branches of Marion community life.

This committee has stated why it believes a charter is needed to give Marion "a more modern form of municipal government."

The statement emphasizes the growth and progress of the city since the present form of city government was adopted in 1902. It adds that despite all other advancements in commercial, industrial and civic activities the governmental system of the city has remained virtually unchanged.

The statement adds that adoption of the Home Rule Charter Amendment to the state constitution in 1912 ended the rigid state rule over cities of 5,000 or more population and permits adoption of a city charter government system of their own choosing. Since 1912 many Ohio cities have adopted charters, the committee says. Throughout the nation, 55 per cent of all cities of Marion's size operate under this plan.

The statement claims that the results generally have been increased efficiency and economy of municipal operations. The committee "and many citizens" are convinced that similar results can be achieved in Marion and on this basis recommend a "yes" vote on the city charter commission question.

Trieste Situation Given Top Place in London, U.N. Talks

Dulles Joins Eden, Bidault in Parley By Big Three

LONDON (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles flew to London today for "save the peace" talks with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault. The explosive Trieste situation gave the conference new urgency.

The talks were scheduled to open tomorrow and run through Saturday. Trieste undoubtedly was the top item for discussion, but the three ministers had a fistful of other topics.

Churchill in Charge

Prime Minister Churchill arranged to dine with Dulles tonight and meet Bidault separately. The British veteran was expected to press on both his pet project for a top-level, informal conference of himself, President Eisenhower, French Premier Joseph Laniel and Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov.

As he left Washington last night, Dulles in a statement expressed hope the London talks would "make some progress" toward easing world tensions.

The three nations' "underlying objective" he said, is "to seek out, with all of our allies, the basis for a lasting peace."

Although both the British Foreign Office and the State Department claimed the get-together had been in the making for some time, it was given a war-or-peace urgency by Yugoslav President Tito's threats to use force to forestall the announced British-American plan to turn over Trieste's Zone A to Italy.

Other Key Issues

In addition to Trieste and Churchill's "Big Four" project, the ministers also were expected to give final approval to their new vote inviting Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to meet them at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9 to discuss Germany and Austria, and to study latest developments on the projected Korean peace conference.

Additionally, the British probably will fill the Americans in on the status of their negotiations with Egypt over the Suez Canal zone while Bidault undoubtedly will report on latest developments in the Indochina fighting.

Probers Hunt Trail of Stolen Radar Secrets

McCarthy Continues Hearing on Charges Russians Got Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—Testimony on the reported removal of top-secret radar defense documents from the Ft. Monmouth, N. J., Signal Corps center has dovetailed with a charge that vital defense data from the base has been channeled to Russia for some time.

Testimony in the case was disclosed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) after a closed hearing yesterday of his Senate permanent investigations subcommittee.

The charge that America's radar defense secrets have been flowing to the Soviet Union came from an unidentified German scientist quoted last night in a copyrighted New York story by the Chicago Tribune under the byline of William Edwards.

The Tribune said the scientist, who fled the East zone of Germany, told U. S. authorities in Western Germany:

"The Russians said that they could get anything they wanted out

U.S., British Await Soviet Bid for U.N. Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The diplomatic battle to keep a shooting war away from Trieste shifted to U. N. headquarters today, but Security Council debate on the explosive issue was overshadowed by the impending London talks on the question.

With their foreign ministers meeting in the British capital tomorrow and Saturday, British and American delegates here sat tight and waited to see what tack Russia's Andrei Vishinsky would take before the council this afternoon.

Coldly Received

Vishinsky's proposal—that the council again try to set up an international administration over both zones of Trieste and give the whole area independence three months later—so far had met with a cold reception from Yugoslavia and Italy, the two claimants to the area.

Vishinsky was expected to lead off the council meeting with an echo of Moscow's earlier charge that the United States and Britain violated the 1947 Italian Peace Treaty by their decision to turn over Trieste's Zone A—occupied by British and Americans tropos—to Italy.

The United States and Britain both indicated they would not intervene at once in the council debate.

Sought To Block Plan

There was no advance indication of what part—if any—Yugoslavia would play in the debate. It was no secret, however, that the Yugoslav delegation wanted no part of the Soviet proposal and tried vainly to prevent Vishinsky from entering it.

Yugoslav President Tito already

Interviewers Get Nowhere On First Try

Indian Guards Pry Balky Anti-Chinese From Prison Camps

•PANMUNJOM (AP)—Balking Chinese prisoners dealt the Communists a stinging propaganda blow today by rejecting 49-1 the first Red atetmpts to coax them home.

All but 10 of 500 Chinese who met Communist interviewers in the first clamorous explanation sessions chose continued captivity over repatriation to Red China, said the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

The Reds had claimed the 2,400 unrepatriated Chinese and North Koreans were being held against their will.

Indians Use Force

This long-delayed psychological phase of the armistice began only after Indian custodian troops pried the wildly demonstrating Chinese from their compounds with threats of force. The Indian commander said later, "we used patience, persuasion and firmness."

Many POWs shouted and sang in the faces of the three-man Red interview teams. Indian guards with sticks had to restrain some. A few danced defiantly on the wooden tent floors.

At first, the NNRC forced the prisoners to listen to the explanations for five minutes, but this was cut to one minute after a U. N. representative protested.

The explainers reminded them of their homes and family and told them "Father Mao (Red Chinese Premier Mao Tse-Tung) wants you back."

Many POWs replied with obscenities.

Then, except for the 10, they chose to leave by a door which meant continued captivity until their fate is decided by the impending political conference or they are released Jan. 2.

Ten Are Returned

The 10 who chose the door to Communism were returned to the Reds Thursday night in a ceremony at Panmunjom.

One American observer, W. D Stout, formerly of Knoxville, Tenn. was ordered out of the explanation center by the NNRC after he protested repeatedly that he was sealed out of sight of the prisoners. The protest was overruled.

After defying two Indian ultimatums, the first 200 rock-throwing, bugle-blowing, anti-Red Chinese finally submitted to Communist interviews. The explanations began more than seven hours behind schedule.

They originally were to have

STUCK TIGHT IN POST HOLE. Three-year-old Garry Gantt lets out a wail as Melvin Nance (left) attempts to pull him free from a 2½-foot deep post hole where he became wedged while playing in Kansas City, Mo. Garry's right foot became caught in the bottom of the hole, dug by his father to set out a fence. The youngster was finally freed after sheriff's deputies, passerbys, and workmen dug him out.

Ike Pauses in Tour At College in Ohio

ENROUTE WITH PRESIDENT EISENHOWER (AP)—President Eisenhower moved west today through the farm regions where the policies of his administration are getting one of their first major tests.

First stop for the President on a trip that will take him to a Kansas City, New Orleans and the Mexican border was at Willard, Ohio, where a crowd of several thousand greeted him at a brief railroad stop.

In an extemporaneous talk Eisenhower declared his administrations stands for peace with self respect. The crowd gave him a noisy reception—plus an invitation to a forthcoming high school chili supper.

Orchid for Mamie

There was an orchid, too, for Mrs. Eisenhower, though she was not along.

Eisenhower is scheduled to make an important farm speech at Kansas City tonight, his first since the Democrats captured a GOP congressional seat in a Wisconsin election fought out on the issue of the President's agricultural and other policies.

Taking part in this "non-political" ceremony will be two of Ohio's political leaders—Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Republican Sen. John W. Bricker. Lausche is the man who just balanced the see-saw of power in the Senate by appointing a Democrat, Thomas Burke, mayor of Cleveland, to the seat left vacant by the death of Robert A. Taft.

After an hour here, Eisenhower planned to leave by train for the Toledo airport, where he will board his private plane for a flight to Kansas City.

His Kansas City appearance will be before the Future Farmers of American tonight. He is on the program there a few hours after his agriculture secretary, Ezra Taft Benson.

Not Enough Action

Benson is under fire by Midwest farmers, some of whom claim he is talking too much and doing too little about drought relief.

Eisenhower, who will be feeling his way in the area trying to determine his strength, is expected to talk about the drought. That problem and other thorny ones of low farm prices, public power and patronage all are much on the mind of his farm-folk constituency.

The President left Washington at 11:30 p.m. last night.

The President's next stop was to be a social visit at Defiance, Ohio, a city of 12,000 which was bursting with pride as it prepared for his brief appearance at a cornerstone laying ceremony at Defiance College.

Eisenhower is stopping at Defiance to call on his old friend, Kevin McCann, president of the college, but from there on out, his trip is strictly business.

Some 60,000 persons were expected to swell the northwestern Ohio college town to greet the President on his first prolonged stop of his six day trip.

Cornerstone Laying

He will lay the cornerstone of the building which will become the Anthony Wayne Library of Early American Studies. The visit was a request of McCann, author of an Eisenhower biography and a great help to the President in the preparation of book "Crusade in Europe."

The Defiance folk are going all out in their welcome, but they'll have to look quickly to see the president. The presidential train is due at Defiance at 11:30 a.m. EST. A motorcade will whisk him to the campus. He is scheduled to be on his way again at 12:30 p.m.

President Will Speak Before FFA Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP) — President Eisenhower speaks tonight to what is probably the nation's hardest-working group of youngsters.

They are the Future Farmers of America—boys whose creed begins:

"I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds . . ."

The President, who did considerable work as a youngster himself back in Abilene, Kan., speaks before the Future Farmers' silver anniversary convention.

The FFA, known as the world's largest organization of farm boys, was started in Kansas City in 1928. Now it has more than 350,000 members from all parts of America.

Churchill Wins Nobel Prize on Literary Work

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill was today awarded the 1953 Nobel Literature Prize for his brilliant historical writings.

The famed British war leader thus became the first maker of history to receive a Nobel Prize for reporting it.

The 175,292 — crown ($33,840) award was announced by the Swedish Academy after a brief formal session this afternoon.

The decision was clearly the most unusual ever taken by the academy, which has been distributing the literary Nobel prizes since the turn of the century.

Statesmen, including premiers and foreign ministers, have been awarded nearly a score of Nobel Peace Prizes, which are distributed by the Nobel committee of the Norwegian Parliament. But the British premier is the first statesman ever to receive the literary prize.

Churchill was chosen winner winner from a field of 25 candidates, including American Writers Ernest Hemingway and Carl Sandburg, British Novelist Graham Greene, Italian Alberto Moravia and France's Albert Camus.

Only one historian has obtained the award before Churchill — the German Theodor Mommsen, who received it 51 years ago at the age of 85 for his history of ancient Rome.

Britain Atomic Test Believed To Be Artillery

WOOMERA ROCKET RANGE, Australia (AP)—Unofficial observers speculated that Britain's second atom test weapon—set off earlier today in this south Australian desert—was a projectile warhead.

A third British test is scheduled here soon.

There was as usual no official word on the type of weapon exploded today, but observers based their warhead theory on the comparative smallness of the devastated area and the fact that the blast was officially described as smaller than the one Britain set off in her first atomic test a year ago.

Today's blast was the 43rd atomic explosion reported by Western nations since the United States set off the first one in New Mexico eight years ago. Forty-one of these have been by the United States, including the two atom bombs dropped on Japan during World War II.

The Russians were believed to have detonated five atomic explosions before a recent series of tests that included an unspecified number of blasts.

A few hours after today's explosion, Australian political leaders united in calling for an international ban on the use of atomic weapons. Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies told the House of Representatives that Australia would do all in her power to press for an effective system of internation-

Bus Strike in Canton Averted, Drivers Settle

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A bus strike was averted today when Canton City lines and the AFL bus drivers local reached agreement for a 12½-cent hourly increase for the company's 120 drivers and mechanics.

Rank and file union members ratified the agreement, which must be approved by the AFL's international officers before a contract can be signed. Such action is expected early next week.

Early morning riders said many buses were nearly empty because many persons anticipated a walkout today.

Need Revenue, Say Tax-Writers

Lawmakers Would Drop Proposed Excise Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican and a Democrat on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee agreed today that Congress should cancel a one billion dollar cut in excise taxes now set for April 1.

Present laws call for automatic reductions then from peak rates, imposed after the Korean War started, on automobiles, cigarettes, gasoline, sporting goods, liquor, wine and beer.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa) said he didn't see how these cuts could be permitted in view of the need for revenue at least to approach a balanced federal budget.

Rep Hale K. Boggs (D-La), in separate interview, took a similar stand. Boggs predicted that many Democrats, although frequently opposed to excise or sales taxes, would go along.

President Eisenhower already has urged Congress to cancel the reductions, pending a promised general excise tax revision proposal, but Congress took no action this year.

Simpson said his political pulse-taking through Midwestern and Northwestern states over the past five weeks has convinced him taxpayers will be relatively pleased with two reductions now set for Jan. 1 and will not be upset by continued high excise rates.

The reductions scheduled Jan. 1 are an average 10 per cent cut in individual income tax rates, and expiration of the excess profits tax on corporations. They would cost an estimated five billion dollars annually in revenue.

French Attack In Indochina

Full-Scale Offensive Aimed at Vietminh

WITH FRENCH AIR FORCE OVER DAY RIVER, Northern Indochina, (AP)—French and Vietnamese land, sea and air forces jumped off at dawn today in a full-scale offensive aimed at destroying huge war depots and paralyzing Communist - led divisions threatening an attack on the Red River Delta.

Breaking out of their delta bulwark for the first time in a year, the French - led troops quickly crossed the Day River in the Ninh Binh sector, 50 miles southeast of Hanoi.

They pushed outside the southern rim of the delta's defenses and stabbed through muddy, rain-flooded ricefields and jagged limestone hills toward the big rebel suply bases before Phu Nho Quan and Thanh Hoa.

A Phu Nho Quan, 55 miles from Hanoi, the Vietminh have one of their crack divisions entrenched in the hills less than 10 miles from the delta rim.

Junior High Pupils Go Back to School

Eber Baker Junior High School students returned to their classrooms today for the first time since their dismissal Tuesday morning because of trouble with the heating system.

The school's new gas boiler was being fired temporarily with wood this morning in order to produce heat in radiators throughout the building. Completion of the installation of the new heating system was expected at least by next week and possibly tomorrow, so that the gas boiler can be put into full operation.

The Baker students were first dismissed last week on Wednesday when temperatures dropped to 33. They returned to classes this Monday, only to be sent home again on Tuesday because of the chilly weather.

Tour Continued By Committee On Agriculture

House Group Taking Survey of Farmers' Views in Corn Belt

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—The traveling House Agriculture Committee moves into Iowa today after hearing farmers in Nebraska join others in Minnesota and North and South Dakota urge that present farm price support programs be continued.

Even organized Nebraska livestock feeders—major buyers of price-supported corn — asked that the grain support program be continued, but modified to permit easier access to government surpluses in areas of short supplies.

But the feeders declared they wanted no direct supports for cattle because floors would involve production controls and "regimentation."

Appearing before a brief hearing of the committee here last night, a spokesman for the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Assn did recommend that the government buy more beef from low grade cows and ship the meat to distressed peoples abroad rather than dollars.

The committee is making a 1,200 mile tour of seven Midwestern states seeking farmer views on future farm legislation.

New Trial Ordered In Perjury Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel ruled yesterday that a second trial for Melvin E. Hupman, 38, of Clarksville, on a perjury charge should be held here. He set a tentative date of Nov. 2 for the trial.

Human's first trial, held at Dayton a few weeks ago, ended with the jury unable to agree on a verdict. The charge against Hupman, a former official of the United Electrical Workers Union, was based on statements made in a Taft—Hartley law affidavit.

Marshall Perlin of New York, Hupman's attorney, tried unsuccessfully yesterday to have the retrial held in Dayton and also to have it postponed until January.

Church Group Approves Gift to United Appeals

A donation was voted to United Appeals by the rural Trinity Lutheran Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society recently. Other business included approval of a gift of $10 to the Christmas Cheer Fund for retired pastors and widows of pastors, and gifts to servicemen. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Wesley Selter near Marion.

Opening devotions were by Mrs Charles Laucher. Rev. Wilbur Budke presented the lesson topic, "Challenge," and Bible study was in charge of Mrs. Kenneth Owings. A review from the publication Lutheran Standard was given by Mrs. Perry Selter. Members who attended the workshop at New Washington gave reports. The group included Mrs. Giles Hoch, Mrs Budke, Mrs C. E. Baselet, Mrs David Lust, Mrs. Charles Laucher, Mrs Carl Hoch, Mrs. Dale Vanderhoff, and Mrs George Lust.

Announcement was made of a thankoffering service at the church next Sunday night, and ingathering of fruits and items of food for the Wernle Children's Home at Richmond, Ind., Oct 25. Named on the committee to be in charge of the gifts for servicemen were Mrs Ralph Lientenberger, Mrs Eugene Lehner, and Mrs Melvin Selter. Rev Budke expressed his appreciation for office equipment for his study given by the society. Hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs Otto Selter.

The first of October marked the beginning of another year of operaton of the Guild sponsored kindergarten Undertaken in March of 1949, this project has developed to a point where 25 five-year-olds are now enrolled

THE CHILDREN attend the kindergarten five days a week in the St Paul's Episcopal Church Parish House and have as their instructor Mrs Louis Duckworth of 1017 Congress St She is assisted by Mrs Evelyn McCombs, and in addition a volunteer worker from the Guild helps each day

On Wednesday, Sept 23 a preschool clinic was held, at which time the children were given a general physical examination and had their eyes checked by a local physician Volunteer nurses from the guild carry out a health program and check the children weekly Each child received complete immunization

RECORDS SHOW that the nursery school children show a decided gain in weight and health during the year The daily health program consists of cod liver oil and fruit juices given upon arrival followed by the tooth brush brigade

WAITING THEIR TURN to be examined in a pre-school clinic are several of the children who attend the kindergarten sponsored by the Junior Service Guild of Marion Proceeds from the "Follies of 1953" scheduled for Nov 5 and 6 at the Palace Theater will help the kindergarten and other service projects of the Guild Mrs Louis Duckworth instructor, is at the center.

In the middle of the morning the children are served a snack of graham crackers and milk Each week five 16-ounce cans of juice seven pounds of crackers, one quart of cod liver oil and 30 quarts of milk are used

The children are brought to and from kindergarten by volunteer drivers from the guild They are called for before 9 a m and returned home at 11 30 a m The morning's program of activities consists of free play, rhythm to music, finger painting, story time, clean-up time, and rest period.

EACH SUMMER a psychologist from the Ohio State Bureau of Juvenile Research gives a mental test to each child Last year, Rodger Bishton of the city schools gave mental maturity tests.

There are 45 volunteer workers for the kindergarten Twenty-three work as helpers in the kindergarten and the remainder serve as drivers These volunteers give a total of approximately 2,000 hours time during the year.

Public spirited citizens of Marion offer their assistance to the guild in many ways Among these are members of the Marion Fire Department who recently volunteered their services in repairing toys used by the children at the kindergarten

Canton Police Raid Printers

Seize Lottery Tickets, Other Gambling Media

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Police hoped today to get their hands on records of two print shops whose operators have been charged with possessing gambling devices. Safety Director Stanley A Cmich said the records should give addresses of customers throughout the country.

A raid yesterday by 16 policemen at the National Manufacturers Inc led to the arrest of Ormond Eugene Shaffer, 56, whom police listed as president and general manager of the concern Cmich said many types of gambling lottery tickets were produced at the manufacturers plant, including tickets enabling a bettor to wager on the weather

Records of the company were not found, however, and a night watch was posted by police to assure nothing would be removed pending a ruling today on a city request for a restraining order

In another raid, at Sliman's Printery plates used to print football and basketball betting slips for distribution in Akron and Massillon were seized, Police Chief James B Quilligan said Thomas Sliman 36, identified as the owner of the company, was arrested

Raids at two other places here drew blanks

The Canton raid and one yesterday in Cuyahoga Falls, an Akron suburb, were prompted by tips from U S Treasury Department men at Akron.

In Cuyahoga Falls plates were confiscated at a print shop, but the owner was not arrested

Handwriting on the Silo

The rebuke to the Eisenhower administration's farm policies administered by voters in Wisconsin's ninth district is a political thunderclap

It confirms the administration's suspicion that many farmers are rejecting its proposition that agricultural price deflation is inevitable and therefore part of a process of stabilization

It confirms the proposition of the political opposition that farm voters are so firmly tied to a high-subsidy policy that any departure from it would be political suicide.

The Republican candidate for the unexpired term of the late Merlin Hull in Wisconsin's ninth district ran on a platform of support for the farm policies of the Eisenhower administration The district had belonged to the Republicans, largely through the personal popularity of Rep Hull, who had been in state politics since 1909 and in Congress from the ninth district since early in the New Deal

In five special elections since Dwight Eisenhower's victory last November, this is the first setback for a candidate pledged to support him. What the handwriting on the silo says is plain:

Woe to any national administration from now on which seeketh to take away what free spenders have taught grateful voters to expect

The message will strike the listening ears of all prospective Republican candidates like the shrill cry of "Hey Rube!" in a tank-town circus.

The Name of the Threat

If every school child in the United States had been taught the significance of nihilism, there would be less confusion in Washington about the best way to describe the threat of atomic destruction.

Washington could explain what it feared most.

The threat could be given a name. It could be called "nihilism," a doctrine which originated in Russian politics and never has vanished from Russian revolutionary thought.

According to the nihilists, the world is so bad it should be destroyed for its own good. The nihilists assume they would survive and take charge of the clean slate.

The thing which makes their doctrine so hideous is its rejection of all logic and all moral precepts If nihilists controlled the Kremlin they would be deaf to the argument that the use of atomic destruction would be wrong or that it would bring about retaliation and therefore no one could afford to start an atomic war

The very thing that makes such a war unthinkable to non-nihilists, however, would make it desirable for nihilists, who seek maximum destruction of everything that exists.

The question is whether or not nihilists control the Kremlin At one time during World War II, the question was whether or not they controlled Hitler's regime in Germany; the answer was never given officially.

Fight for Life

Nothing hits automobile drivers harder than a series of bad accidents They begin to look for circumstances that are duplicated in their own experiences—and when they find them they realize that every driver and every passenger is living on borrowed time

In this frame of mind they begin to practice what the experts call "defensive driving," the ultimate solution to the problem of highway safety

If every motorist and his passengers must wage a fight for life, the first rule in the battle for survival is to keep danger at bay.

That is the secret of defensive driving.

Every professional driver who makes an outstanding safety record practices it. He is looking ahead to some potential accident all the time he is at the wheel and trying to keep it from happening

He tries to be ready for the suicidal fool who will pass on a hill or a blind curve He never takes it for granted that any driver will stop at a stop street

He does not even trust traffic lights; it would take only one light-crasher to kill him. He does not assume the road will be unobstructed on the other side of a hill as he approaches the brow He does not even trust himself implicitly. He knows his own weaknesses.

He makes no assumptions of any kind that do not square with his experience on the highways His experience shows that some driver can be depended on to do everything wrong—and he tries to beat them to the punch in the accident they will cause for somebody

Defensive drivers, themselves, are not mistake-proof But by trying to look ahead to the mistakes that might kill them—both their own mistakes and the other fellows' mistakes—they widen their margin of safety.

If you aren't a defensive driver already, try it the next time you get behind the wheel of an automobile. It will make you, your family and your insurance company feel better.

Lausche Appointment

By David Lawrence

Governor May Have Eye on U.S. Presidency

The people of the State of Ohio just a few months ago demonstrated again that they wanted a Republican to represent them in the United States Senate — but, by the act of a Democratic governor, they now are denied that privilege.

In November 1952, the Ohio electorate, by a margin of more than 315,000, elected a Republican senator. Two years before they elected a Republican senator by more than 430,000 majority. Yet the governor, Frank Lausche, now exercises his privilege to choose a Democrat, Mayor Burke of Cleveland.

This is, of course, a recognized right of the governor in office—to fill vacancies—but on this occasion the Republicans in the Legislature of Ohio have only themselves to blame for failing to pass a law requiring that the vacancy be filled at the November election this year.

Sen. Bricker who was re-elected last November, urged his fellow Republicans in the Legislature—which happened to be in session last summer when Sen. Taft died—to pass such legislation.

There were enough votes to pass the law but not to override a governor's veto.

Gov. Lausche, however, informally told the legislators that, while he did not favor such a bill, he would not veto it if the Legislature desired to pass it.

The reasons why the Republican leadership in the Ohio Legislature opposed the special - election idea are not clear, though it suggested that perhaps they feared Gov. Lausche, a strong campaigner, might make the race himself and win.

It is believed that Mayor Burke will run for the governorship in 1954 and Gov. Lausche will try then for the Senate.

If the governor wins the seat, it may put him in line as a serious contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956

A whole session of Congress—and an important one—will have occurred before the voters of Ohio are enabled in November 1954 to choose a United States senator

Legislation stipulating how vacancies shall be filled varies in different states, but more and more the trend is toward special elections within a few weeks.

This happens in many instances with respect to members of the House of Representatives, and it is more in line with the spirit of the Constitution to enable the voters at the earliest possible moment to elect a senator of their own choice than to permit a representative of the minority party in the state to cast their vote in Congress.

The long delay by Gov Lausche in making the appointment to fill the vacancy created when Sen. Taft died on July 31 has not been explained.

It could be that the governor waited as long as possible so as to prevent the pressure of public opinion from being effective in demanding an extra session of the Legislature so that a law could be passed providing for a special election this autumn.

Gov. Lausche has never given his reasons for deferring action except to say that the Congress wasn't going to meet until January anyway.

Recently legal moves have been made in court to try to accelerate action by the governor

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Credit was freely extended and loans to purchasers were common in the early pioneer days of storekeeping, until a Yankee merchant moved in and began selling for cash at small profits The old "traders" who had taken up the business without training were shocked and an effort was made to drive the Yankee out of business. Gradually the business of the county changed for the better Farmers prospered, for they saved half of their expenses; merchants prospered and ceased losing their profits in bad debts In place of stocks of goods amount to $2,000 or $3,000 stocks of $20,000 began to be common.

A Handle for the Pump

By TRUMAN TWILL

It has dawned on me after a long right of misgivings what causes so many of us to feel disgruntled about the blessings of the mechanical age we live in.

It is because all the blessings are conditional. They are bestowed in relation to things over which we have no control, such as the health of artisans and the whims of producers.

When they are withheld or taken away, we have nothing to fall back an, this leaves us with a feeling of insecurity — a hollow sense of inadequacy.

When there was a heavy snowstorm a few years ago, millions of families went on short rations immediately The blessing of the easily available supply of food had been snatched away from them overnight. They had nothing to eat.

Nothing the cat ever dragged in looks so pitiful as a stranded motorist whose power of locomotion has been taken away. Motorists have been so blessed by the privilege of riding everywhere they go that many have lost their ability to walk more than a few yards without acute fatigue

There is the recurrent tragedy of families whose television sets go on the fritz, not knowing what to do with themselves until a repairman can be wheedled into restoring the blessing which chases away boredom.

And of course the tragedy of tragedies occurs when there is an interruption in the supply of electricity. Life steps in its tracks and begins to sag at the knees Typists cannot run electric typewriters Clocks stop Civilization starts to disintegrate immediately.

An electric pump fails in a modern farmhouse and no one knows how to get a drink of water. A milking machine falters, and who knows how to do what it has been doing"

Men live in dread of this faltering, knowing they have been hoodwinked into putting their lives in the careless hands of a fate they cannot control.

They need a margin of security. They need food in reserve, enough know-how to tinker an automobile engine back to life, the knowledge they could walk 10 miles against the wind if they had to do it.

They need a hand crank on some of the appliances that are everlastingly conking out. They need a handle on the pump, a lantern with a trimmed wick and a full tank ready to be lit if the power goes off and the certainty that not all the amusement and charm on earth have been delegated to shadows that flicker behind glass panes on gawk boxes.

They need to know they could build a fire without the Sunday paper and a box of matches, that they could put together a meal over a campfire if they had to and that they have not become mere parasites paying dearly for the privilege of living their lives like fleas on the back of a mechanical dog.

Most of all they need to know that their lives could not be cut off by the failure of a mechanic to come a-running with spare parts for some gizmo with a broken fumadiddle that no one makes except one company in Peoria whose workers have been on strike since 1913 because someone in Buffalo is sore at someone in Youngstown.

No Iron Curtain Here

New York Scandals Put Dewey 'On Spot'

By Raymond Moley

Unless Thomas E. Dewey is consumed with an unquenchable ambition to try for the presidency again, he must, at this moment, wish that he and not Warren had ascended to the political sanctuary of the Supreme Court. There have descended upon Dewey problems and dilemmas more serious than he has ever before confronted in his long career in New York politics.

The Dewey appeal in New York, and it has been a powerful influence, has been uncompromising warfare on all forms of organized crime and racketeering. It also has been an appeal to all who believe Tammany to be sinful and exclusively sinful.

The suggestion that Republicans, especially Dewey Republicans, and Democrats are involved in friendly relations with shady labor leaders and other rascals has made little headway with the voters of New York.

Imagine, therefore, Dewey's embarrassment to find, after all his Herculean labors in the stables of crime and labor politics, that those grimy precincts have been occasionally frequented by people of his own party and his own choosing.

Three scandals, each involving labor leaders, have brought these associations to view, and the governor is faced with the alternative of swinging away at friends and foes alike or risking the charge that there is one standard for Republicans and another for Democrats.

The most recent of these embarrassments concerns one Joseph Fay who, as vice president of an AFL union, bossed the building trades in New York and New Jersey.

He was convicted eight years ago and, it was thought, safely deposited under the governor's jurisdiction in Sing Sing.

But Fay proved that even in Dewey's New York, "stone walls do not a prison make" — not while humane prison management fixes visiting hours. The Fay seat on the Hudson became a mecca for politicians from both states and from both parties.

Among the very frequent visitors were William S. Bleakley, the most powerful Republican leader in Westchester County; John Kenny, the Democratic mayor of Jersey City; George Meany, president of the AFL; the presidents of the AFL of both states; Paul Troast, now Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey; and, to the great embarrassment of the state administration, Arthur H Wicks, president of the New York Senate and, as acting lieutenant governor, the Dewey heir apparent

What all these people talked about with Fay cannot be recited here because all that we know is what red-faced politicians say, and that sounds, for the most part, fishy.

An equally great embarrassment is the revelation that the immensely profitable harness race tracks of New York have been the seats of vast extortions by labor racketeers and that Dewey's closest political lieutenant, national committeeman and presumably federal patronage dispenser, Russell Sprague, owned some 4,000 shares of the Yonkers race track.

The conditions regarding the acquisition of that stock and the amount of emoluments derived therefrom would belie the idea that it was a particularly risky investment. In fact, like that classic figure, Plunkitt of Tammany Hall, Sprague "seen his opportunities and took 'em"

Joseph Ryan of the longshoremen, whose union recently became too odorous for the AFL appears to have been a great favorite of politicians of all New York parties. At great annual dinners for him, the more or less noble and the worldly - wise assembled to do honor and oratorical tribute.

The 1952 chairman of the dinner was the present Democratic candidate for mayor of New York, Robert Wagner, Jr. Among the guests were a goodly number of Republican politicians high in the Dewey "team."

"Perhaps," said my assistant and secretary when she got to this point in copying this piece, "that is why this campaign for mayor is so clean. All sides are living in glass houses."

Groceries Go Arty

The American supermarket is getting to look like an art gallery.

With the trend toward self - service supermarketing in full swing, more and more producers realize that they have to package their products in boxes of colorful "shelf appeal."

And the manufacturers and printers in the 600 million dollar carton industry are turning out boxes with gaily colored photographs on them in answer to the need for "silent salesmen."

No longer can the clerk behind the counter promote one particular brand over another by constantly recommending it. Now products are placed on shelves and must sell themselves to shoppers by virtue of eye - catching packaging and "spot - of - sale" or impurse appeal. Shoppers now choose for themselves and that entails a little bit of human psychology for manufacturers.

Margarine box with a mouth-watering picture of a slab of margarine melting on a piece of golden brown toast, a box of pie-crust mix with a picture of a glistening red cherry pie, and a liquor gift carton with a picture of a decanter that's a connoisseur's delight are all the rage on shelves now. There's attractive coloring and also realism that is a tacit sales talk in itself.

Drugstores are getting on the supermarket bandwagon, too. The shimmering sheen of blonde hair on a shampoo box will make any woman select that product over another. Smartly distinctive men's toiletries boxes with reproductions of Old English woodcuts that are the last word in savoir - faire tempt meticulous males

As recently as six years ago, products were just packaged in boxes with a drab background color and unobtrusive letterpress printing. The shopper merely knew what brand she was buying from the identifying printed name. If one tended to be whimsical, she'd pick out a color she liked. But there was no art work or uses of bright color on boxes. Little or no creative thought was put into cartons

Then, after the war, supermarkets and color photography bloomed concomitantly The days of the clerk behind the counter were disappearing

An endless array of products was piled on shelves in supermarket aisles. Drab colors and indistinctive printing had to go. They weren't enough to sell a product. Bright colors and styling, persuasive illustrations had to be used. That presented problems.

Imprinting a color picture in full detail on rough boxboard wasn't easy. Several years' research found the answer.

An ultrafine screen was developed that could reproduce 120,000 dots per square inch on the boxboard surface. Screens used to reproduce colored pictures in slick magazines procude 45,000 dots per square inch. So, now, color pictures, in full detail, can be transmitted to rough, coarse boxboard with great realism.

Finely detailed pictures of greater realism are just what manufacturers want. The more distinctive, the more appealing, the harder the sales punch. If an art enthusiast sees a painting with tone, lines, color, and realism to his liking, he will buy it. The women shoppers of America are no different.

Chinese Deaths Increase

HONG KONG (AP)—It appears that the people of Red China, as in other countries, fail to "stop, look and listen" when they cross railways. The death toll is too high, says the Peiping Peoples Daily.

The Communist paper reports 216 deaths in a five-months span in the Harbin, Manchuria, district and 74 accidents in the Peiping district last year.

"These accidents mostly occur due to the masses lacking common sense about railway traffic," was the paper's sharp comment.

Bears Close Road

TUPPER LAKE, N. Y. (AP)—Jaywalking bears created a traffic problem at the American Legion Mountain Camp near this Adirondack village.

So many bears began wandering across the road connecting the Paradise Point and Horseshoe Lake camping areas to get at edible refuse left by campers and motorists that the Legion decided to close the private road.

It will be reopened, the Legion said, after the bears have been enticed away from the Camp premises.

Daily Bible Thought

It is not for you to know the times or the seasons —Acts 1 7. Humanity usually guesses wrong. The significant event of any year is quite apt to be ignored at the time, then in later times it is discovered that not the crowning of a king, nor a military victory but the birth of a baby in a distant obscure province, born in a stable maybe was the world-shaking event of the year.

Words of the Wise

An educated man is not necessarily a learned man or a university man, but a man with certain subtle spiritual qualities which make him calm in adversity, happy when alone, just in his dealings, rational and sane in all the affairs of life.—Ramsay MacDonald

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Is Everything Clear Now?

Everybody is discussing the stock market these days and advancing theories for the recent decline We have consulted so many stock market brokers, customers' men and experts that we are close to having the largest collection of assorted theories on earth

From one man we hear that it is due to the change in the Gulf Stream's course. (The Gulf Stream has moved closer to the brokers and farther from the customers, leaving the latter all chilled up and logey.)

This man also insists that the market decline is due to those statements at the bottom of all new security floatation notices and most letters from brokerage houses: "This is not an offer to sell or a solicitation to buy the security herewith called to your attention"

He says that when customers read a curious statement like this, it puts them in a "izza so?" mood if not into a complete "who's on second"' state of mind, making them highly suspicious of all securities and people dealing in them.

T. Cheevers Toothey, an investment counsellor of our acquaintance, says the selling is due to Eisenhower's failure to break 80 regularly. "Nothing can restore confidence until Ike makes a hole in one," he declares

Toothey also holds that the auto situation is a big factor "Here and there a poll has revealed a fellow whose old car is in fine shape hesitating to buy a new one," he explained. "A man in Kennenbunkport, Maine, recently refused to turn in his $4 200 station wagon just because the windshield wiper had done more than five hundred miles

Now and then a workingman has been seen walking to work in a plant only six blocks from home This is bad It indicates a sudden and complete change in the American scene," he says.

Herkimer Z. Skimmer, our favorite broker, says the market is falling because labor strikes are falling off "This is a sign working folks are getting satisfied with big pay and shorter hours. It is only a short step to their liking the boss. Things like this make them satisfied with life and when they get satisfied they get listless and don't eat much.

When people don't eat much it means a slump in meat prices This could start a real depression." Mr. Skimmer says he follows a restaurant indice "My indice indicates that there are restaurants in a few cities in which the proprietor is beginning to care whether the customer is taking a beating. Some of them are serving a baked potato with a five dollar meat order without a letter of credit.

This means the cold war between restaurants and customers may be ending. A friendly peaceful attitude could scare customers so badly they would start eating at home This would be a blow at a source of basic prosperity.

Each Yank player got $8.280 as his share of the world series money, but voted Gerry Coleman only a one-third share, or something less than $3,000. This seemed generous to them, and Gerry thought it so. After all, when the boys were at home playing baseball all year all he was doing was risking his life in Korea to make sure baseball didn't disappear from the face of the earth

Hollanshed-Sipe Nuptials Observed In Waldo Wedding

The wedding of Miss Jacqueline Rae Hollanshed and Donald E. Sipe took place at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27, in the Hollanshed home at Waldo. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Avery Hollanshed and the late Mr. Hollanshed, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marguerite Sipe, also of Waldo.

Rev. Robert Fieter, pastor of the Waldo Methodist Church, read the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Avery Hollanshed, the bride wore a waltz-length dress of white net and lace. The lace bodice had a rolled collar, three-quarter length sleeves and the full net skirt fell from a lace peplum. A white satin cloche held her fingertip veil of white net and she carried a purple orchid on a white Bible.

Miss Mary Hollanshed, sister of the bride, was bride maid. She wore a waltz-length strapless gown of yellow lace and net, a lace cape and mitts and carried a flower bouquet.

Keith Augenstine served as best man for the bridegroom.

For the ceremony John Courtney of Columbus, uncle of the bride, Mrs. Hollanshed, mother of the bride, and Keith Augenstine, sang. The accompaniments were played by Miss Jane Moyer.

They are making their home in Caledonia where they operate Holly's Restaurant.

At the rehearsal party at the home of Miss Hollanshed she presented her attendant with a lipstick and powderbox and gave Miss Moyer a pin. Mr. Sipe's gift to the best man was a tieclasp.

Hardin Couple To Mark Anniversary

Mr., Mrs. Joseph Slagle Married 72 Years; Remain Active

Keeping young by keeping busy might well describe Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Slagle of Hepburn in Hardin County, who'll celebrate their 72nd wedding anniversary on Oct. 29.

The Slagles don't sem too impressed with their 72nd year of marriage or their 91st birthdays. Both are enjoying good health and finding things to keep them busy.

Mr. Slagle still drives his car and Mrs. Slagle often helps out with light housework by washing dishes, sewing and cooking. The couple attend the Methodist Church and frequently go shopping in Marion and Kenton stores. Living with the Slagles are their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Virden.

It was about four years ago that Mrs. Slagle fell in a Lima department store and broke her hip. It took three months in bed and a stay in a wheel chair before she was able to walk again, with the aid of a cane. A short time later she was walking without the cane, although the fall left her partially lame. The lameness doesn't keep her from being active.

Mr. and Mrs. Slagle were married Oct. 20, 1881, at the farm home of T. J. Harvey, east of Marion. Mr. Slagle worked for five years as a stone and brick mason in Caledonia and their children, the daughter, and a son, Edmund, now of Painesville, were born in Caledonia. They moved to Indiana where they lived for six years before they moved to a farm near Hepburn in 1898. Later, Mr. Slagle built a house in Hepburn, where they have lived for about 40 years. For many years, they lived in the house in Hepburn while Mr. Slagle worked on the farm.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH SLAGLE

Although he has retired from farming, Mr. Slagle renews old memories by working in his garden and yard. Maybe there isn't as much soil to till, but the vegetables look just as good.

The couple has one grandchild, Mrs. Stanley Gresham of Bay Village, and one great-grandchild, Donald L. Gresham of Bay Village.

Mr. Slagle was one of a family of two boys and two girls. His brother, Grant Slagle, was a former superintendent of the Marion County Home. His wife, one of 10 children, is a cousin of the late D. R. Crissinger, formerly treasurer of the United States and chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Erie Cited for Producing Best Annual Report Ad

CLEVELAND—The Erie Railroad is to receive a bronze "Oscar of Industry" award for the best annual report advertisement in the transportation industry, Paul W Johnston, president, was informed today.

The prize-winning advertisement carried the headline, "Erie Sums Up Another Year of Progress," and summarized the results of Erie's 1952 operations. The advertisement appeared in 120 local newspapers along the railroad earlier this year.

Boy, 5, Suffers Broken Leg in Traffic Mishap

A 5-year-old boy was sent to Marion City Hospital yesterday with injuries received in one of four traffic accidents in Marion city and county reported today by police and the Marion County sheriff's office State patrolmen listed no accidents in the county.

Richard M. Bessom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Bessom of 669 Bexley Ave., is in "fair" condition today at Marion City Hospital after he was struck by a car Wednesday afternoon.

Carl E. Hawkins, 38, of 248 Jefferson St., told the Marion County sheriff's office that the boy darted out in front of a parked car and in front of his automobile as he was driving south on Summit St. near Bexley Ave. Time of the accident was 3:30 p.m.

The boy sustained a fractured right leg and possible head injuries, the sheriff's office reported. He was taken to the hospital in a Boyd ambulance.

Three Minor Accidents

Three minor traffic accidents were reported today by police.

Cars driven by Thomas J. Roberts, 29, of 253½ S. Vine St. and James W. Kratzer, 16, of 160 John St. were damaged in a collision at an alley intersection at the rear of Loeb's Furniture Store at 9 p.m. last night Police reported damage was slight to both cars.

The right door of a car driven by Claude M. Hunter, 79, of Mansfield was damaged slightly when the car struck a truck parked on S. Prospect St. at 1:09 p.m. yesterday. Driver of the truck was L. C. Bishop, 46, of Columbus.

Cars driven by James E. Pierce, 33, of 274 Oak St and Bernard G. Lyon, 23, of 237 Pennsylvania Ave. were slightly damaged in a mishap at Mt. Vernon Ave. and Forest St. at 6:10 p.m. yesterday.

Dismissal of Liquor Charges Against 3 Marionites Sought

A motion seeking to have dismissed charges of violations of state liquor laws against three Marionites, was filed in Municipal Court this morning.

The motion, called "a plea in bar," contends that charges place the three persons in double jeopardy in that similar charges were previously dismissed by the court for lack of evidence. Attorneys John Watters and Paul Simpson, representing the defendants, say that they feel since the first charges were dismissed then these latest charges should also be dismissed. They say the latest charges are based on the same evidence as the first charges.

The charges were filed against Joseph P. McGary, 40, of 178 Patten St., being the keeper of a place where intoxicating beverages are sold illegally, and Donald E. Bassler, 23, of 474 Silver St. and Reba Dale Darby, 416 S. Prospect St., both selling intoxicating beverages illegally.

The three were first arrested following a raid on the Moose Lodge clubrooms on N. Main St. by city police and liquor agents Aug. 9. The charges were later dismissed in Municipal Court for lack of evidence.

Last Friday the three were again arrested on new charges filed by Lawrence Lucius, state liquor agent. No date has been set for a hearing on the motion filed this morning.

Pleasant Firemen Called To Put Out Grass Blaze

The Pleasant Township Fire Department answered a call at 1:30 p.m. yesterday for a grass fire south of the Owens Road along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

The cause was attributed to sparks from a passing engine. No loss was reported.

Riots Shut Slovene Schools in Trieste

TRIESTE (AP) — Anti-Yugoslav riots brought a protest today from Yugoslavia's economic mission here and the closing of all Slovene schools as tension mounted in the disputed port city.

Civil police kept a sharp watch to prevent a repetition of the violence last night during which Italians and Slovenes clashed with fists and umbrellas and pro-Italians broke furniture and windows at the economic group's headquarters.

Delegation Secretary Velimir Mijovic delivered the protest note personally to Maj. Gen. Sir John H. Winterton, British chief of the Allied military government.

The note accused the territory's police force of "failing to protect" the Yugoslav building. The Slovene schools closed in protest against the riot.

The boys come from places you seldom hear about, like Marked Tree, Ark.; Churchville, N. Y.; Jones, La.; Farmington, Ill., and Corning, Calif.

But they all know hard work, and many of them know success in their teens.

Take Stanley Alton Chapman.

His father died when he was 13. The father left a 155-acre farm near Monroe, Wash. The pasture land was poor and the farm in general was rather run down.

Now Stanley and his mother have a well-improved farm with almost 100 milk cows. He figures the value of his share in land, machinery and other assets at $88,604.

Stan is only 20.

Then there are boys like 19-year-old Rollin D. Blosey of Williamston, Mich.

He bought a registered Duroc gilt (that's a young female hog) for a vocational agricultural project when he entered high school in 1947. The animal farrowed nine pigs. As Blossey completed project after project through high school, he reinvested his money.

Now he operates a 100-acre farm and has an interest in an additional 185 acres.

What do the boys think about hearing President Eisenhower in person?

"It's the chance of a lifetime," commented David Oehling of Nova, Ohio.

And two boys from Freedom, Okla.—Davy Hepner, 16, and Virgil Cummins, 15—said enthusiastically:

"It's a mighty fine deal—and we bet the talk'll be better than anything we've run into back in Freedom."

Decision on Special Deputies Held Up By Sheriff Obenour

Sheriff Glenn Obenour reported this morning that he does not plan to reissue any special deputy commissions at the present time despite a ruling of the Ohio Industrial Commission yesterday which cleared the way for such action.

Obenour said that he canceled the commissions on the advice of Prosecutor Ralph E. Carhart and Ralph J. Paul, Franklin County sheriff and president of the Buckeye Sheriffs Association.

He added that he will not reverse his action until he receives advice to do so.

Obenour, along with many other Ohio sheriffs, revoked the commissions after a referee for the O.I.C., R. E. Shockey, allowed a death claim to the widow of Frank K. Owens, a Columbus watchman holding a special deputy's commission.

However, the Commission reversed the ruling yesterday, The Associated Press reported. The Commission stated that "it was not shown that decedent was an employe of Ralph J. Paul, sheriff, but rather established that he was in the employment of James L. Moats, doing business as Columbus Guard & Watchman Service, Inc."

Shockey had ruled previously that the widow was entitled to death benefits because the special deputy commission made Owens an employe of Sheriff Paul.

Asked if the ruling meant that sheriffs would reissue special deputy commissions, Commissioner J. Maynard Dickerson said, "I think it should."

Obernour said that prior to the time he revoked the commissions there were about 18 or 19 special deputies in the county.

Two Accidents Reported in Morrow County

Two Morrow County accidents were reported today by highway patrolmen from the Marion post. No one was injured.

William B. Goodman, 21, of Mt. Gilead was arrested and fined Wednesday after the car he was driving struck the rear of one driven by Goldie L. Hattery of Mt. Gilead on U. S. Route 42, about one-half mile south of Mt. Gilead.

Damage was heavy to the grille, front right fender, right headlight and bumper of Goodman's car. Minor damage was reported to the rear and trunk of the other auto. Goodman was charged with unsafe operaton, and fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace R. R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead.

At 5 a.m. today, a car and tractor-trailer outfit sideswiped on U. S. route 42 one and four-tenths miles south of Cardington.

According to patrol reports, James C. Dailey, 26, of Kittanning Pa. was driving the tractor south, and Howard L. Wiles, 48, of Madison College, Tenn., was driving his automobile north.

The left front outside wheel of the trailer blew out and was the only part of Dailey's vehicle damaged in the crash. The complete left side of the Wiles car was badly damaged.

POWs

started Sept. 26 but started Sept. 28 but were delayed by wrangling over facilities.

An Indian spokesman said the 10 Chinese would be returned to the Reds in a ceremony Thursday night at Panmunjom.

He said Communist persuasion teams will talk to 1,000 prisoners Friday, including at least 500 North Koreans.

The atmosphere was charged with tension in the opening of this vital psychological phase of the armistice, but there was no violence.

Indian guards had to prevent the first prisoner from slipping away as he was taken before the interviewer.

Refuses to Listen

A U. N. interpreter said the Reds told the POW: "You must go back to your home, to your family."

Refusing to face the interviewer, the prisoner answered, "No, I want to go to Formosa."

"Do not be cheated by the U. N.," he Red interviewer argued.

"I have made up my mind," the POW replied.

When the Reds saw they were making no headway, they gave up, the observer said. Then the prisoner was left alone to make his choice beween two doors—one to repatriation and Red China, the other back to his compound. He chose the latter.

Steel-helmeted Indian guards with rifles stood outside the explanation center and others with big sticks were outside the explanation booths.

Still more guards were posted along the road leading to the center from compounds where the rest of the 2,300 anti-Red POWs screamed and shouted.

Waving Chinese Nationalist flags, the first 200 prisoners emerged from their stockades and climbed aboard trucks to the interview area after a crack Indian battalion surrounded their barbed wire enclosure.

Decision Denying Damages Upheld In Supreme Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—In refusing to review the case, the Ohio Sureme Court yesterday let stand Athens County court decisions denying damages to a passenger hurt while riding to work in an auto.

Berniece Whaley was injured when the car in which she was riding to work at the Athens State Hospital overturned near Millfield April 30, 1949.

She sued Berniece Skinner Coen for damages and testified she paid for her transportation The lower courts held the payments were voluntary and denied damages.

Ashley, Sunbury Find Water Supply In Critical Stage

Special to The Star

ASHLEY—The water situation here and at nearby Sunbury has reached the critical stage and both Sunbury Elementary and Big Walnut High Schools may be forced to close

Volunteer firefighters started late Tuesday afternoon to haul water from the Delaware reservoir to the Ashley water treatment plant in Ashley fire department's new 1,000 gallon truck and an 800 gallon truck loaned by the state highway department. The hauling will continue as long as the present drought emergency exists, according to Charles McBeth, Ashley water commissioner.

Ashley School students were requested to bring their own drinking water supply from home for a few days this week until the river water had run through the treatment plant and was available through the pipelines.

Sunbury started last week to haul water from Little Walnut. The river water is dumped into Sunbury's reservoir and run through the village treatment plant.

Many of the wells or cisterns at Ostrander have gone dry and water is being trucked in from Delaware and Marysville.

Truckers fill their truck tanks at a fire hydrant at the Delaware city hall. A charge of 50 cents per load of 800 gallons is made to the truckers and the farmers pay anywhere from $3.50 to $5.

SHOWS FILM AT ASHLEY

ASHLEY—Miss Emily Potter of the Ohio Edison Co., Marion, showed a film, "Improving the Lighting of Your Home," to the junior and senior classes of Elm Valley High School, Tuesday afternoon in the home economics room.

Report on State Convention Given Green Camp PTA

A report on the recent state PTA convention held in Cincinnati was given at the October meeting of the Green Camp PTA by President Robert Lowry. He stated the state organization is backing amendment to the state constitution that would create a state board of education with power to appoint a superintendent of public instruction.

Devotions were led by Rev. A. H. Nothsune. Mrs. Donna Ruth Jones, hospitality committee chairman, introduced several parents who are new in the school district.

Playground equipment purchased by the organization has been delivered and will soon be installed. The organization voted to contribute to the United Appeals campaign. The award for having the highest percentage of parents present went to Mrs. Ruth Sloane's seventh grade.

During the program hour songs were sung by the seventh grade glee club, solo by Louis Finch, and a solo by Ruth Ann Carey with Miss Lenore H. Rice, music instructor, at the piano

Mrs. Ruth Finch, program chairman, announced that Mrs. Katharine B. Smith, now on the faculty of Edison Junior High School, a former faculty member here, would talk at the November meeting on her trip last summer to Europe.

of Ft. Monmouth."

The Army announced recently, without elaboration, that five civilian employes at Ft. Monmouth had been suspended for security reasons.

McCarthy, whose committee continues closed hearings here today into possible Communist subversion in the center's radar laboratory, said yesterday that five other persons have been suspended in the past two days.

McCarthy's Comment

McCarthy, reporting he questioned a scientist friend of executed atom spy Julius Rosenberg and that the scientist admitted taking home 43 secret documents to "study up on his work" in 1946, had this to say concerning theft of radar data from Fort Monmouth

"We have completely convincing testimony that some of the top-secret missing documents regarding radar and other matters did turn up in the Eastern zone in Berlin."

However, the 43 documents which McCarthy's witness admitted taking home were recovered when Army agents raided the scientist's home that same year.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

The National Inter-Law School Moot Court Competition is sponsored annually by The Committee on Junior Bar Activities of The Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Offered as a text in this competition is a pamphlet which may be interesting to young lawyers, who at moot trials have an opportunity to try their wits, but which, in my judgment, is a wickedly clever piece of propaganda designed to influence public opinion in favor of those who hid subversion, espionage, and corruption of American life, by an abuse of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

SOKOLSKY

This pamphlet is a model transcript of record of a hypothetical case before the Supreme Court of the United States, namely, the president and trustees of Targe University v. Mary Caveatt, widow of Scholarleigh Caveatt, who had appeared before a Congressional committee, pleaded the Fifth Amendment, was fired by the University, climbed a mountain and dropped dead.

-:-

JUDGE WISE of the United States District Court handed down a decision favoring the University, but in the course of that decision, he quotes the congressional committee's transcript.

No name of a senator or representative is given and it is therefore impossible to know for sure whether the learned but cagey lawyers who conceived the pamphlet were referring to Senators McCarran, Jenner, or McCarthy or to Representative Velde.

As the pamphlet refers to Communist infiltration into our universities, we must assume that the references are to Sen. Jenner, as his committee has been investigating this subject under the brilliant direction of Robert Morris, its counsel.

The Jenner Committee, as well as the others, has followed a procedure with which these Bar Association authors are apparently not familiar, namely, that before a witness is called in open hearings, he is given an opportunity to appear in executive session.

IN ITS REPORT on this subject, the Jenner committee stated:

"This testimony was not made public in any case until the persons so identified as Communists were given an opportunity in private session to contravert or deny the evidence.

"After these private sessions, the educators were then called before the sub-committee also in private session and asked about the details of the evidence, and their refusal to deny or contravert the evidence was followed by open hearings. The subcommittee felt that such a method was the most responsible procedure of exposing those who are Communists.

"Furthermore, it insured fairness and accuracy both to the witness and the subcommitee, since, according to this standard, the names of those who denied Communist party membership were not brought into the public record as subversives."

BECAUSE OF this method, had the mythical professor Scholarleigh Caveatt denied, under oath, Communist affiliation in private hearings, referred to as executive sessions, he would not have been called for a public hearing.

By the omission of any reference to this usual and normal procedure, the Moot Court pamphlet burlesques the entire process of investigation and gives to the matter a propagandistic twist, which, it appears to me, it is designed to do.

Furthermore, the quoted transcript of the hearings is so written as to give the impression that the witness is never permitted to reply to a question.

I have literally read every word of every hearing before the McCarran, Jenner and McCarthy committees—millions of words—the dullest reading I have encountered in all my years.

-:-

SOME OF IT I have quoted verbatim in these columns as examples of the horrifying attitude toward the United States on the part of those who teach our sons, but I feel that only if such words are seen can they be believed.

From this vast reading, I can witness that only those who attempted to make irrelevant, unrelated and propagandistic speeches were stopped in their tracks. Otherwise, they talked on and on.

In the Bar Association pamphlet, there is an appeal to a higher court and the judgment of Judge Wise is reversed.

And here is the propaganda: the total abuse of the Fifth Amendment is upheld, despite the fact that that amendment to our Constitution has been used to aid spies, saboteurs, subversives, those who stole our atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, and the defensive steps we are taking against the consequences of these thefts.

The lawyers who prepared this pamphlet do not honor it with their names.

WHERE'S THE MISSING RANSOM? Carl Austin Hall (right), admitted slayer of kidnaped Bobby Greenlease, is headed for a heavily-guarded jail cell in Kansas City, Mo., after a trip from St. Louis. Hall told officers he was "trying to remember" what happened to the missing half of the $600,000 ransom money. "I would like to give it back," Hall said, "but I don't know what I did with it." A United States marshal (left) is taking Hall to his cell.

County Grange Banquet Scheduled Here Nov. 4

At a meeting of Progressive Grange Tuesday night in the Grange hall, Howard Click, master, announced plans for the county Grange banquet to be held Nov. 4 in the First Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The program, in charge of the new lecturer, Mrs. William Crabtree, included a vocal selection, "Welcome To You," by Miss Jean Bibbee, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Cecil Davis; two readings, "Aunt Melissa On Boys" and "The Trials of a Butcher," by Mrs. C. C. Metz, a guest; and three selections by a saxaphone quartet composed of Mary Baumgardner, Judy Maxim, Carol Oberlander and Jean Haley. They played "March," "Country Gardens" and "Home On the Range."

Square dancing was held following the meeting with Hugh Johnson as caller. Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Click. A Halloween masquerade party will be held at the next meeting, Oct. 27.

San Francisco's Busiest Burglar Out of Business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The busiest burglar in San Francisco was out of business today.

Police arrested Wallace L. Skaggs, 26, at his hotel room. They said he admitted breaking into 19 homes and stealing about $5,000 worth of furs, clothing, jewelry, radios, typewriters, luggage and electrical appliances in the past six weeks.

Skaggs met his downfall when he was spotted carrying a television set from the home of Thomas McKeon, a retured policeman.

Accused Pike Killer Returns

Wable Is Handcuffed To Detective on Train

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—John Wesley Wable, the accused terrorist of the Pennsylvania Turnpike charged with the murder of two truckers, yesterday left the scene of his capture for Pennsylvania.

The 24-year-old Wable continued to protest his innocence of charges of murder. He maintained a sullen attitude as he walked aboard the Santa Fe Super Chief handcuffed to Westmoreland County Detective Merle Musick.

But the young Pennsylvania man, who has kept his composure since his capture last Sunday in Berlen, for the first time appeared to show signs of the fear he must have stored within him.

Wable is charged with the deaths of truckers Harry F. Pitts, 39, Bowling Green, Va., and Lester B. Woodward, 39, Duncannon, Pa., last July.

Wable would not answer reporters' questions in connection with the murders. The two truckers were shot in the head as they slept.

The only time Wable smiled and relaxed his close guard against questions and photographers' cameras was when a newsman gave him a cigaret. This was taken from his mouth by Musick with a terse, "no smoking here."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There is a militarized Soviet zone in the Americas. It has a small airforce. Its hidden arsenals are loaded with Skoda machine guns, artillery and shells, run into our hemisphere by international gun smugglers. The smugglers are directed by a Czech Skoda factory agent named Miroslav Pisov and four other agents whom I'm told by U. S. government officials I must not now identify.

RIESEL

This militarized zone stretches from Guatemala to British Guiana where in three years a dentist, Cheddi Jagan, and the American wife he met at Roosevelt College in Chicago have built a powerful pro-Soviet party. Heavily laden with money and weapons, it has been kept from overthrowing the British governor there only by the arrival of the Royal Marines.

Until the English leathernecks and Korean vets arrived, Jagan's Peoples Progressive party whipped up paralyzing strikes in the sugar and bauxite (aluminum ore) fields, threatened to kill the editor of the anti-Communist newspaper, and attacked anti-Communist legislators on the very floor of the House.

SINCE THE pro-Communist Progressive party won 18 of the 24 seats in the Assembly and took over all the ministries last April 27, Jagan, the ousted prime minister and his aides were able to use government money to fly all over the colony, agitating workers to strike and terrorizing those who refused.

Against this network of money, manpower and Soviet arms, our people, organized in a union called the Manpower Citizens Association, had exactly one jeep. Had, I say. Our friends were forced to sell their only propaganda weapon—the jeep—because they couldn't meet the payments.

This entire pro-Soviet Latin American-Caribbean labor network is run out of Jamaica by a new Communist labor federation, directed by none other than Ferdinand Smith, whom we helped drive out of the CIO's National Maritime Union.

-:-

SMITH WAS deported from the U. S. after consistent exposure here and a long fight by CIO Sailor chief, Big Joe Curran. Today, Smith is a vice-president of the Soviets' World Federation of Trade Unions.

Global masterminds of this outfit are meeting now in Vienna to plan world-wide sabotage of American installations.

That's their purpose in British Guiana, Jamaica and the entire Caribbean area, which is the heart of our guided missiles and rocket-launching sites protecting the Panama Canal.

Never ones to waste their time on so minor a project as disrupting our canal defenses, the sovieteers are infiltrating Latin - American governments and labor federations to paralyze the bauxite mines, from which we and the Canadians get considerable tonnage of aluminum ore for war plane production.

They also want to cripple harbor facilities and to prove to the Orient that we big bad white imperialists shoot down colored natives.

-:-

VERY CLEVER, these sovieteers. And what do we do about it? Nothing. At the AFL convention, I heard Serafino Romualdi, the federation's Latin-American expert, warn specifically that there was danger of Soviet revolution in British Guiana. Nobody heeded when he said what is happening in British Guiana is exactly what happened in Guatemala.

And what hapened in Guatemala? There, Communist groups are organized along military lines. They are receiving heavy shipments of arms, actually smuggled through the Panama Canal.

The weapons then are landed on Guatemala's Pacific Coast —and moved to the interior by National Agricultural Department trucks. At strategic points, the machine guns are dropped off.

ACCORDING TO recent intelligence reports, Soviet agents in the province of Izabel have just received ten machine guns and 350 rifles.

I have before me a list of names, places and quantities of rifles, machine guns and ammo delivered elsewhere in the past few weeks. Also the sites of secret military training camps at Santo Tomas, Concepcion, Santa Anita el Jobo, El Progreso; Los Chorros; and an airfield at Pedrera Nacional.

At these fields, military men from Russia itself, some exiled from Santo Domingo, and Guatemalan Army officers are training cadres for invasion of virtually all the Central American countries.

THE PLAN is to tie up with Peron and sweep American capital, American diplomacy and American security from the lower half of our hemisphere. Thus we can be isolated. And it will take the lives of many of our boys to re-win what we think are banana republics peopled by gay caballeros.

Why we do nothing is anybody's guess. But the resonsibility for the death of our own marines sent in some day will be on the heads of those who now know of this infiltration, but do nothing.

Open Season

By Inez Robb

The melancholy days have come, and I have just sent out for my annual allotment of sack cloth and ashes to get in tune with the season.

INEZ ROBB

This is the time of year when American magazine editors feel it is their sacred duty to build a brisk fire under their fellow citizens with a rash of imported articles entitled, "Why Europeans Hate Americans and The U.S.A."

Or, if the editor has imagination, he can substitute for "Europeans" any one of the following "South Americans," "Asiatics," "Arabs," "South Africans," "Australians," "Indians," "Burmese," "British," "English," "Irish," "Welsh," "Scotch," ad infinitum.

THE EDITOR can pick and choose. Obviously, we haven't got a friend in the world. Or, at least, we haven't got a friend who writes. Or even telegraphs, for that matter.

The open season on Americans and the U.S.A. has been launched this year by two of Henry R. Luce's magazines, now on the newsstands. Mr. Luce has employed a British Labor MP and a Canadian editor to let us see ourselves as others see us, and let me tell you, honey, we are a revolting sight!

We still have terrible manners, we are still incessantly drunk, noisy and disorderly, we are our usual blood-thirsty, war-minded selves, we continue to be hideously materialistic, we have no standards, and if we are callous enough to permit another economic depression, it will be the end of Europe.

The fact that it might also be the end of the U.S.A. is, natch, all to the good.

NOTHING basically new has been added to these old time-tried and tested charges against us, except the nasty possibility that we will invoke a depression and ruin the old world.

There is no use in inventing new charges when the old ones always sell so handily: foreigners wouldn't recognize an American tourist who wasn't a beast or a U. S. soldier who wasn't drunk and about to assault the innkeeper's daughter.

American editors apparently suffer from a hair-shirt complex, and a determination that their readers share the shirt. Their grim determination to hire outside talent to hold the mirror up to American nature is doubtless admirable, but I wish they'd get the mirror some place other than from the fun house at Coney Island.

IF EDITORS insist on such articles, however, I wish they'd keep the money at home. American writers have to eat, too. I have read so many of these creeds dissecting us unspeakable Americans in the past 20 years that I know them by heart.

In fact, I can turn them out with one hand tied behind the typewriter, and shall be happy to do so for a proper stipend. It's simple as shooting fish in a barrel.

If you are writing from the Asiatic point of view, the emphasis is on our crass materialism; if from the British point of view, on the untrustworthiness of our trigger-finger in the present international situation, and so on ad infinitum.

OF COURSE, every foreign critic, some place in his article, emphasizes our "child-like" generosity. This is a way of saying that our money is just dandy in the form of gifts and loans, but that we ourselves are too stupid to be trusted with it.

Even Sir Winston Churchill, of all people, has gotten in on the act. In the last 30 seconds of his fascinating speech to the Conservative party last week, he managed to blame the United States not only for World War II but for World War I!

It looks like a long, cold winter ahead. Wouldn't be surprised before it's over to learn that the U.S.A. incited the destruction of Carthage, the sack of Rome and the Children's Crusades.

Michigan Student Reports on Trip

Russia Is Like Another World, Editor From Michigan Says Upon His Return

Editor's Note—Last month three student editors, granted visas by Moscow, flew off for a two-week visit to the Soviet Union. They looked around Moscow and Kiev. This is what they saw, as related by one of the group, 22-year-old Zander Hollander of the University of Michigan.

By ZANDER HOLLANDER

NEW YORK (AP)—An American in Russia feels like he's in another world

In the two weeks I spent there, I was never allowed to forget the Iron Curtain.

We toured Moscow's busy, wide streets frequently. Leaving the Hotel National, I noticed the frowning MVD militiamen stationed around the clock at the door. We were not followed in our rubber-necking tours but, curiously, MVD men showed up often. They wore long, heavy blue overcoats, with red epaulets, and pistols were visible on their hips

Once, at a state-owned market off Gorki street, I took a picture of a crowd of Muscovites elbowing determinedly for a chance to buy scarce Ukrainian melons Seconds later, an MVD man showed up, asked to see our passports, said we couldn't take pictures. We argued that the tourist bureau had given us permission He finally checked and came back to apologize. The crowd seemed to marvel that we got away with it

From what I could see, Muscovites spend many non-working hours waiting in line. Just for the experience, I queued up with them for bread—shaped like bagels—cheese, which was tasty, and candy, which was very rubbery. For each of the three items, I had to line up three times

First, you line up to find out what they're selling and for how much. Then you line up to get a purchase ticket from the cashier. That's when you pay. Then you get in a third line to get what you just paid for.

After dark, I saw many Russians return to slum homes, hidden behind an ill-kept facade of massive buildings. I looked into lighted windows on people living four or five to one dreary room.

We found the New Moscow Sate University a gleaming, imperious monolith atop Lenin Hills. It looked opulent. Most of its 7,000 students, we found, were there on scholarship. Some got preference by putting in two years of voluntary labor in the construction of the school, opened last month

We found the students proud of their university. One, Sergei Sochin, a philosophy major with a blond rag mop of hair, asked excitedly in the elevator:

"How fast do your elevators run" Ours run..." He knew exactly, to the second. I couldn't tell him how fast Michigan elevators run.

In Moscow State's Library, we noticed the reading rooms well stocked with American and British scientific journals and bulletins from the U S Departments of Agriculture and Commerce.

Judging by their conversations with us, the average Russian gets a picture of the United States painted in broad strokes of poverty, bankruptcy and oppression for the worker and farmer and of great wealth and power for the "bourgeoisie" and capitalists.

During a stormy argument in a Ukrainian schoolroom, we tried to make some sturdy collective farmers understand how American farmers had prospered in recent years. I saw them smile. They didn't believe us.

"They know how poor the peasants are in the United States," explained a Kiev journalist who accompanied us. "They've read all about it in that fine book,' The Grapes of Wrath,' by John Steinbeck."

I retorted that that was a depression-era picture of some farmers migrating from dust bowls. But my argument wasn't translated.

Still, in these arguments, there were times when we Americans seemed to be getting through to some of those present. We could tell when we were beginning to gain—the ubiquitous party-liners quickly changed the subject.

Once we were telling a crowd of absorbed Kiev students how a university scholarship pulled me through Michigan and how a friend was studying at the University of Colorado on the GI Bill.

But when we began to explain what the GI Bill is, a clacking voice behind me switched the conversation. Why, he wanted to know, was Paul Robeson not permitted to come to the Soviet Union to pick up his Stalin Peace Prize?

In such discussions, the Iron Curtain was not exactly rigid. It was more like a self-sealing tire, closing off its own leaks before any real damage was done.

Entertain With Old Fashioned Supper

Ham, Crisp Corn Fritters Combine for Country Style Treat

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Ask your friends to an old-fashioned country supper next time you are entertaining. Their taste buds will start working at the very idea.

To most of us "country supper" conjures up so much. Family comfort, old friends, places to remember with loving nostalgia.

And wonderful dishes! Great slices of baked ham, golden-brown corn fritters crisp and sizzling from an iron kettle, the tantalizing taste of home-pickled peaches!

That's an old-time country supper that's easy to repeat — especially if you bring it up to date to make kitchen work easy.

The country suppers I remember especially were the ones when we had unexpected company. "We'll just put another board in the table," my mother would say and sometimes as many as twenty would sit down. But chances are that in 1953 you'll have four, maybe six. So instead of a whole or half baked ham, you might choose one or two ham steaks, needing no advance preparation, broiled to goodness quickly and easily. Easy to carve, too.

Pickled peaches? They always had a place of honor on the old-fashioned preserving shelf. But if you have none stored away, open a can of peaches and glaze them with a little butter and sugar under the broiler while you are heating the ham.

Corn fritters? Make them the easy way and use pancake ready mix for the batter and a can of vacuum-packed whole-kernel corn. The pancake mix speeds up preparation, and its special blend of flours give crisp and tender fritters that will not absorb excess fat if they are carefully deep-fat fried.

HAM, CORN FRITTERS AND GLAZED PEACHES . . . simple to prepare, wonderful to eat.

If you have one of those divine electric fryers you can prepare the fritters right in front of your guests — even let company take over. If not, the old iron kettle is still a good utensil — especially if you use a deep-fat frying thermometer.

Want another country supper menu? How about thick slices of roast fresh pork for the meat? For dessert, serve peach fritters made with pancake ready-mix batter. Dust the fritters lightly with superfine granulated or confectioners' sugar and a dash of cinnamon.

Or serve roast beef and hot potato salad for the main course, make the peach fritters the dessert and accompany them with a hot orange sauce.

That's real American eating!

GOLDEN CORN FRITTERS

Ingredients: 1 cup pancake ready-mix, 1 egg (beaten), ½ cup milk, 2 cups drained canned whole kernel corn.

Method: Add beaten egg and milk to pancake ready-mix, mixing until fairly smooth. Fold in whole-kernel corn. Drop by spoonfuls into hot deep fat (360°); turn when brown on underside. Total cooking time is about 3 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot with maple-blended syrup. Makes 12 fritters.

PEACH FRITTERS

Ingredients: 1 cup pancake ready-mix, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 egg (beaten), 2-3 cup milk, 8 drained canned peach halves.

Method: Stir together pancake ready-mix and sugar. Add beaten egg and milk, mixing until fairly smooth. Dip drained peach halves into batter. Fry in hot deep fat (360°); turn when brown on underside. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve sprinkled with superfine granulated or confectioners' sugar with roast pork or serve as dessert with a hot orange sauce. Makes 8 fritters.

Powder Plant Blast Kills Two in Illinois

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP)—An explosion at the isolated smokeless powder processing plant of Olin Industries killed two workmen and injured a third here last night. The blast was felt more than five miles away.

Olin officials, who were unable to explain the explosion, identified the dead as Lee H. Heidinger, 32, of Gillespie, Ill., and Floyd H. Chamness, 51, of Bethalto, Ill.

William E. Perrin, 38, of Alton, a laboratory technician, was hospitalized with severe shock.

Lima Boy, 14, Shoots Neighbor, 9, With Rifle

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A 14-year-old Lima boy fired a .22-caliber rifle from his bedroom window yesterday and killed his 9-year-old next door neighbor.

Police Chief Kermit A. Westbay said Peter Ledwedge told him he didn't know the rifle was loaded when he shot Roman Schaefer. He was not held.

The Schaefer boy was returning home after crossing the street to buy a bottle of soda when the bullet pierced his heart. He died almost instantly.

3 ESCAPEES RECAPTURED

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Three men who escaped from the Cabell County Jail Monday were captured yesterday. They are Charles Slayton, 27, and his brother, Woodrow, 23, both of Huntington, and Edwin Patterson of Bellaire, Ohio. Patterson was waiting return to the state penitentiary at the time of the break. He had escaped from a road camp while serving 10-25 years for armed robbery.

Past President Pin Presented By Red Cross

Richard Probst was presented a past president's pin at the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Wednesday at Hotel Harding. The presentation was made by Ivan R. Barnhart, also a past president, who expressed the board's appreciation of Mr. Probst's service as president last year.

Robert Bagley was welcomed as a new member. Announcement was made that Mrs. Frank Kochensperger had accepted the chairmanship of Junior Red Cross activities which will get under way early in November.

Reports were given by Charlton Myers, chairman of home service, Lowell Douce, disaster chairman, Richard Bradt, water safety chairman and J. W. Llewellyn of the budget committee. Mrs. Merle Hamilton, a member of the board and head of the clubs and organizations' solicitation in the Marion County United Appeals Campaign, gave a report of the drive now in progress.

Reports of the various services were as follows: Canteen: 19 persons gave 84 hours service at the Blood Center canteen; Gray Ladies: 14 women gave 105 hours service at the Blood Center; motor service: three persons gave 11 hours to service at the Blood Center; production: five persons, 28 hours, one afghan and two baby blankets; social welfare aide: one person, 190 hours; staff aide: 23 persons, 154 hours at Blood Center, City Hospital; volunteer nurse's aide: six persons, 33 hours at Blood Center.

Wyandot County Adviser Heads 4-H Club for Over 25 Years

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — Senior club advisor in Wyandot County 4-H work is Miss Frieda Ulrich, of Upper Sandusky, secretary and office manager of the Wyandot Livestock Cooperative Association. She has been the leader of the largest 4-H club in the county, the Upper Sandusky Snip and Clip, for more than 25 years.

The Snip and Clip, a sewing club, was organized in 1923 and Miss Ulrich was named advisor five years later. Through the years the club membership, current and alumni, has totaled nearly 800. A steady annual growth was topped with a new record of 76 active members in 1953.

Both leader and members take pride in another record, over the past ten years, of 100 per cent completion of both projects and project books. The 76 members this year initiated and completed 128 individual projects in 20 sewing and tailoring classifications.

An extra "club project" for 1953 was the sponsorship of a group of magazine subscriptions for the Evangelical and Reformed Church Home for the Aged here, the Wyandot County Home and Wyandot Memorial Hospital. This project continued a club tradition known as the community project.

Snip and Clip demonstration teams have won first place ratings in the state contest hours at the Ohio State Fair for the past three years. The demonstration team members this year were Miriam Hale and Doris Habliz.

Capable assistant leaders for the club are Miss Alice Leightey and Miss Marcella Shively. Miss Leightey has been an assistant for eight years and Miss Snavely the past three years.

The club was awarded an "A" rating blue ribbon for its exhibit building booth at the Wyandot County Fair this year, and one of the active members, Miss Jane Phillips, Upper Sandusky High School senior, was elected the junior Fair Queen.

Akron Youth, 17, Breaks 20 Traffic Laws in Chase

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 17-year-old youngster, stopped because of a bad muffler, tried to get away from a policeman yesterday and broke more than 20 traffic ordinances in a 15-minute chase. They included:

Going through 10 boulevard stops, crashing eight red lights, going 80 miles an hour on a boulevard, going 50 miles an hour through a school zone, trying to make an illegal U turn, driving with a revoked license, going the wrong way on a one-way street and resisting arrest.

GOVEROR LAST RESORT

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only Gov. Frank J. Lausche can save Mrs. Dovie Blanche Dean from the electric chair Nov. 6. The state Supreme Court yesterday refused to reheat the case of the woman who poisoned her husband in Clermont County last year.

Some Found Unreliable

Graduates More Alert, Say Employers

High school graduates today are more alert, have more self-confidence and maturity and greater learning ability than graduates of 10 or 20 years ago, according to reports from a survey of employment agencies in 44 cities.

—:—

EMPLOYERS in 44 different cities said, however, today's graduates do not develop or apply their strong points. Many of the graduates can't spell, punctuate, do percentages or simple arithmetic, the employers report. Too many are unreliable and a great per cent have no interest in going a good day's work. Many have inflated ideas of their worth in terms of starting salaries.

Personality traits dominated the inventory of strong points listed for modern graduates and included poise, assurance, aggressiveness, adaptability, ease in meeting strangers, ability to get along with others and mature knowledge of the world.

The biggest group of faults listed was wrong attitude. Inflated ideas of their own value and desire to start at an experienced worker's salary, instability and irresponsibility, including tardiness, loafing, staying away from work without excuse, and quitting without notice.

Ignorance of fundamentals such as spelling, punctuation, arithmetic and grammar was second on the list and third was indifference, no interest in anything but how much can be gotten for how little work. The employers complained of "progressive" education and said there was not enough training in the three "R's."

ABUNDANCE OF employment was given the major blame by some placement executives, both for poor scholastic preparation and wrong attitudes. "Youngsters feel they don't have to apply themselves; they can get a job anyway."

Some of the employers feel that high schools in their territory are giving excellent training in stenography and other office courses, yet others said that graduates of city high school courses are likely to be better trained than those from small town high school business classes "but boys and girls from the smaller towns have better spirit, more desire to do a good job and are more industrious."

Special $64 Million Dividend Going Out On GI Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Special dividends totaling 64 million dollars are scheduled to begin going out in the mails today to 380,000 veterans holding permanent plan World War I government life insurance.

The special payment, announced by the Veterans Administration last night, is in addition to regular 1953 dividends totaling 23 million dollars being paid policy holders after each policy's anniversary date.

The special payment will average $168 and will be limited basically to veterans with permanent plan policies in force last Dec. 31 and issued at least five years earlier.

The VA said the issue is possible because a trend in death and disability cases released some funds set aside for such benefit claims.

According to a popular myth, the MacCool grabbed a mound of earth when an Ulster giant called Finn into the Irish Sea Isle of Man came into existence in Northern Ireland and threw it

Government in Dilemma On Forcing Reds To Talk

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen Brownell illustrates once more the government's dilemma in trying to make witnesses before congressional committees answer questions about any Communist connections they might have.

He said yesterday he will back, with changes, a bill being considered by Congress to force such witnesses to answer. Should Congress pass it, the measure would be tested by the first balky witness. That could mean a long court fight.

The dilemma already has a long history. Witnesses wanting to duck questions about communism have taken refuge behind the First and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution. Their main reliance now is on the fifth, not the first.

Several years ago a committee asked 10 Hollywood writers about Communist tieups Some of them said that under the First Amendment, which guarantees freedom of speech, they didn't have to answer.

They interpreted the guarantee of freedom of speech to mean also freedom of political belief. They argued the committee question was about their political belief and that under the First Amendment they didn't have to answer.

Was this excuse valid? Or was it being contemptuous of Congress? Anyone cited by Congress for contempt and then convicted in federal court can be jailed for a year and fined $1,000

Congress cited them for contempt and they were convicted. The higher courts upheld the conviction, ruling the First Amendment did not protect them from having to answer about Communist party membership.

Later witnesses turned to the Fifth Amendment to escape answering questions about communism with this argument: that anything they said might incriminate them. The fifth says a man can't be compelled to testify against himself.

And they've been getting away with it without being cited for contempt How come? They could claim that, if they admitted party membership, for instance they might find themselves eventually prosecuted under the Smith Act.

That act, passed in 1940, makes it a crime to teach conspiracy to overthrow the government The government has convicted a number of top Communist leaders under the Smith Act.

But isn't there a law which says that what a man tells a congressional committee can't be used against him? There is Congress passed it in 1857. It still stands. It says:

"No testimony given by a witness before a congressional committee shall be used as evidence in any criminal proceedings against him in court."

Wouldn't it seem from the wording of that law that a witnes could no longer claim protection of the Fifth Amendment, as an excuse for not answering, because what he said might incriminate him?,

No, there's a gimmick. Under present law a man could admit federal crimes to a committee and his words before the committee could never afterwards be used against him in a court.

But there's nothing to prevent the FBI from picking up leads from his testimony, going out and finding information on which the government could then prosecute him without needing his testimony before a committee.

It's for this reason that a witness can use the Fifth Amendment. He can refuse to testify if, in so doing, he might provide leads that would in the end incriminate him.

To sew up his loophole—to make it harder for witnesses to use the Fifth Amendment and easier for committees to get information from them—the Senate last year passed a bill now awaiting House action. It would do this.

Enable a committee to promise a witness he would never be prosecuted in federal court for any crime he admitted before a congressional committee. If, once offered this sweeping immunity, he still tried to use the Fifth Amendment as an excuse for not answering, he could be cited for contempt.

In other words, Congress could then force a witness to testify. But there may be a gimmick here too. For example, suppose a witness admitted he was a Russian spy and had stolen valuable American secrets

Once granted immunity by the committee, he could never thereafter be prosecuted for that espionage. But if what he said gave the government leads to another crime on which he did not testify, presumably be could be charged with that.

Instead of giving the committees power to grant immunity to witnesses, Brownell says, he wants Congress to let him decide when to grant it.

If such a law were passed, the Supreme Court certainly would have to decide whether or not it was constitutional.

HANGING ACCIDENT

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ten-year-old Arthur F. Baker, a bright lad who, his parents said, liked to experiment, accidentally hanged himself last night in the basement of his home. Various Macaroni Dishes Add to Menu

Pork Chops and Sauce Make Savory Dish With Noodles

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

National this-and-that week used to leave us cold. Perhaps you've felt the same way. But we've discovered that often you get good food bargains during these promotions, and so we feel we should pass the latest one on to you. 'Tis National Macaroni Week from Oct. 15 to 24. These "Weeks" have a curious way of beginning on Thursday and ending on Saturday, including ten days!

One fine way of serving macaroni in cool weather is with pork chops and tomato sauce. The savory flavor of the meat and tomatoes are fine complements for the bland egg noodles over which they go.

We like this dish, too, because you cook the chops and sauce together in one large skillet. If you use one of the handsomely designed modern utensils you can bring it right to the table. Cook the noodles in a matching saucepan and bring that on "as is" too.

Egg noodles and other macaroni products are fine to alternate with potatoes and rice on dinner menus. They're so easy to cook at the last minute—even a bride can't spoil them if she remembers only one rule. Don't overcook.

They are so easy to taste-change, too. Here are some of our pet variations for buttered cooked egg noodles — wide or thin. Sometimes we toss them with poppy seed or toasted slivered almonds, or both. Sometimes with lightly fried onion and green pepper. Sometimes we sprinkle them with freshly grated Parmesan cheese or finely chopped parsley, or both.

PORK CHOPS with savory tomato sauce taste wonderful with egg noodles.

Every once in a while someone asks us how to eat spaghetti!

We usually say that it is quite correct to cut the long strands with the fork. But if you want to go in for the spoon-and-fork technique, here's how to do it.

With your fork in your right hand and your tablespoon in your left, spear a few strands of spaghetti on the tines of your fork. Hold the end of the fork against the bowl of the spoons; then twist your fork so as to entwine the spaghetti into a ball that can be easily placed in your mouth. We almost said "small" ball, but we refrained; somehow or other that wad of spaghetti has a way of growing larger very fast. But cheer up, several rehearsals and you'll master that technique!

PORK CHOPS WITH TOMATO SAUCE AND NOODLES

Ingredients: 1 tablespoon fat, 4 shoulder pork chops, 1 clove garlic (peeled and minced), one No. 2 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) tomatoes, 1 can (about 6 ounces) tomato paste, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon dried crushed oregano, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces (about 4 cups) medium egg noodles.

Method: Melt fat over moderate heat in a large skillet. Add pork chops and garlic. Brown chops on both sides. Add tomatoes (including juice in can), tomato paste, ½ teaspoon salt and oregano. Cover and cook over low heat 40 to 50 minutes, stirring occasionally. About 10 minutes before chops are cooked through, cook noodles this way. Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until just tender. Drain in colander. Serve pork chops and tomato sauce over noodles. Makes 4 servings.

Too Late To Place Bet, Cincinati Man Finds

CINCINNATI (AP)—A man called a Walnut Hills area home and asked "Is it too late for the sixth at Keeneland?"

It was.

It was a policeman who answered the phone.

He and other officers were in the process of raiding the home of Charles B. Ryan, 44. They seized betting paraphernalia and charged Ryan with possession of horse race betting and payoff slips and promoting a game of chance.

Officers said nine bettors called during the 25 minutes they were in Ryan's home.

Mohawks Score 4 Times In Second Period, Win 7-1

The Marion Barons went down to a 7-1 defeat last night at the Coliseum when they tangled with the Cincinnati Mohawks in the opening game of the International Hockey League here The Mohawks are defending IHL champions

A crowd of slightly more than 3 500 people watched the inaugural of the new winter sport in Marion The next appearance of the Barons will be Sunday when the Louisville, Ky, team appears here

Mayor Harold Robinson officially opened the Barons' action here He dropped the puck for the opening faceoff just prior to the start of actual competition Robinson with the aid of the officials walked to the center of the Coliseum rink to help get play underway

The Mohawks took a 2-0 lead in the first period Their first goal came after slightly more than eight minutes of play when Art Rose took a pass from Spud Biggs and pushed the puck into the net from about 12 feet out Three minutes later, Eddie Kachur scored with an assist from Bill Pawchuk to give the Mohawks a lead they never relinquished

Paul Emms put the Marion squad back into the running early in the second period when he hooked one past the Cincinnati goalie Curtis Hodge Gordon Vejprava and Jerry Prince were credited with assists on the play

Art Rose scored twice for the winners but Ken Briggs was the big offensive gun He scored only once but was credited with an assist on each of Rose's scores.

The Mohawks spent a total of 10 minutes in the penalty box while Marion was charged with only a pair of two-minute penalties

After the game the Barons were downhearted about the opening game loss but none showed signs of being discouraged One of the team members suggested the players needed only harder and longer practice sessions to shake the early season jitters

The Mohawks threw practically the same team onto the floor which last year copped the league championship and then went on to win the United States title

Attending the game and wishing the Marion entry the best of luck was Frank Gallagher president of the International League He came to the game from Detroit Also on hand was Jim Hendy general manager of the Cleveland Barons, parent club of the local team

Ohio Working Overtime for Quaker Battle

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP) — Pre-season confidence that Pennsylvania would present one of the easiest hurdles to overcome in the 1953 campaign has been replaced by doubt in the Ohio State football camp since last Saturday's upset by Illinois

The Buckeyes eager for a substantial victory over the Quakers in Philadelphia Saturday are displaying anything but overconfidence in their workouts this week Minus the services for this game at least of star quarterback Johnny Borton and possibly two first string tackles the Ohioans are making preparations comparable to those expected for a major opponent

Coach Woody Hayes has indicated tackles Dick Hilinski and Francis Michinsky will warm the bench in Saturday's contest And he has evidenced some concern for Dean Dugger and Howard (Hopalong) Cassady both of whom were considerably ruffed up in the Illinois encounter Dugger suffered an arm injury Cassady a bruised shoulder

Hayes is preparing 20 year old Dave Leggett a 6 foot 190 pound junior reserve quarterback from New Philadelphia to replace the injured Borton one of the nation's leading passers and tops in the Western Conference with 18 completions in 31 attempts for 221 yards

Borton out with an ankle sprain may even be forced to miss the Wisconsin game a week from Saturday

Writer Picks Buckeyes, Irish To Win Games

By HAROLD CLAASEN

NEW YORK (AP)—The past week has been spent in conjuring up a double, extra-special, peachy whammy to neutralize the upset fever which threatened the football schedule last week The whammy was brewing in time to bring in 36 correct picks and nine incorrect ones a week ago. That's an average of 800

The season's record is 123 correct 36 incorrect for 769

Here are this week's picks

Notre Dame over Pittsburgh Pitt has come a long way since the loss to West Virginia but the Panthers would need a year's time to get into Notre Dame's class

Alabama over Tennessee Your TV morsel of the day Tennessee's offense has been below par all season while Alabama's has been overhauled since that surprise setback by Mississippi Southern

Minnesota over Illinois Illinois spoiled Ohio State last Saturday in one of the day's major upsets Lightning can't strike twice in the same spot they say, and so the Gophers are the choice

Michigan State over Indiana If it isn't Evan Slonac it is Leroy Bolden, if it isn't Bolden it is Tommy Yewic and if it isn't Yewic it is anyone of a dozen other backs who are scoring for the Spartans

Duke over Army The Southerners' line from tackle to tackle, probably is as good as any in the country

Southern California over Oregon State State pays the penalty for being the next foe after the Trojans were held to a tie by Washington

Wake and over North Carolina Two unbeaten powers but Wake's magnificent horde of backs gives it the edge

Skipping over the others in a hurry

Pee Wee Reese Hinted as Successor for Dressen

Reese Admits Receptiveness To Empty Job

By JOE REICHLER

BROOKLYN (AP)—Charlie Dressen's sudden switch to the Detroit Tigers as Brooklyn manager for anything less than a two-year contract has been succeeded by Dodger Captain Pee Wee Reese.

Reese, a favorite of Brooklyn President Walter O'Malley and fondly regarded as a possible future successor to Dressen, indicated yesterday he would be receptive if the job were offered him.

Dressen, who led the Dodgers to the National League pennant in 1952 and 1953, would consider a manager's job only on a two-year contract. He said the 4-year-old Detroit organization is in need of a complete overhaul and that it would take more than one season to put the Tigers back in the first division.

Reese, who batted .256 with 10 home runs and 61 runs batted in during the Dodgers' disappointing season, said he would consider managing only if he could be assured of the full support of the front office.

"I'm not interested in managing unless I can have my own way," Reese said. "I've been around baseball long enough to know what I'm talking about. I'm not going to be a puppet for anybody."

Browns Ready Twin Defense For Redskins

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns' coaching staff yesterday disclosed plans to use a double-barreled defense against Washington's Redskins in the National Football League game here Sunday.

Coach Paul Brown's assistants, Wilburn Hollis and Ernie Godfrey, revealed they will employ a 5-3-3 defensive alignment against Cleveland's passing attack.

Brown indicated he will go with a 6-1-4 defense against the Redskins' ground game.

Brown's 9-0 Browns will be shooting for their 10th straight victory. Washington is 2-5-2.

Cleveland's Otto Graham, who has completed 62 per cent of his passes for 1,154 yards and 12 touchdowns, is the NFL's top-ranking passer.

Harding Track Men To Stage Sale of 'Mums'

'Mums' will be sold by members of the Harding cross country and track teams on Friday's homecoming game with Columbus Central to make the 1954 annual Mum Night here's a bigger and better event.

Prizes for the flowers sold every year to provide medals, trophies and ribbons for the Night Relays. The Fifth Mum Night Relays is scheduled May 7 and Kenneth Schaefer, track and cross country coach said we hope to make it a bigger and better meet.

The big yellow flowers will be sold at the stadium gate and before that Friday afternoon at Harding High School. The flowers will be on sale at 2:35 p.m. for football players who wish to purchase them for their parents, girl friends or sisters and at 3:25 p.m. when school dismisses to the Harding students lobby in the lobby of the school's gymnasium.

Cost of the Mums, a shipment of which is expected to arrive Friday, is $1.50 a dozen. A total of 2,500 was sold last year and there will need for more, Schaefer said. He expects a sell-out this year due to the Homecoming crowd Friday night at the stadium.

Illinois Holds Offensive Lead

Spartans Second in Battle of Statistics

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten statistics compiled

With J. C. Caroline leading the loop in rushing with 192 net yards, Illinois has a total offense record of 344 yards a game.

Michigan State, however, has an impressive average of 321 yards a game. It remains to be seen if Illinois will get Mike Bass, who was injured in the Michigan game, back for the Ohio State game.

Northwestern's Art Murakowski is the leading passer with 18 completions in 38 attempts for 188 yards.

Ohio State's John Borton is second on the list with 18 completions in 38 attempts for 221 yards.

Quarterback Paul Hornung of Notre Dame is the man to watch on the opponent's offense.

St. Mary's unscoring defense for tomorrow night's game will find it on Jones Field on the Groveport Pike southeast of Columbus.

The best way to get to the field is to take Route 23 through Columbus and turn left on West Broad. Then follow Williams Road's six red lights and under the railroad underpass turning right at the first road past the underpass. The field will be on the left.

Hearings End

Supreme Court Members Begin Study of Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP)—A question before the Supreme Court today is: Has baseball for 30 years become a commerce within a state commerce within the meaning of the anti-trust laws?

If the court says yes, baseball will go on operating its own rules as it has in the days of Abner Doubleday.

If the court says baseball is in interstate commerce, baseball cases appealed to it will go to trial in federal district courts.

The Supreme Court took the matter under advisement after two days of hearings which started shortly before Friday by the minor league baseball operators, the baseball players and the baseball fans.

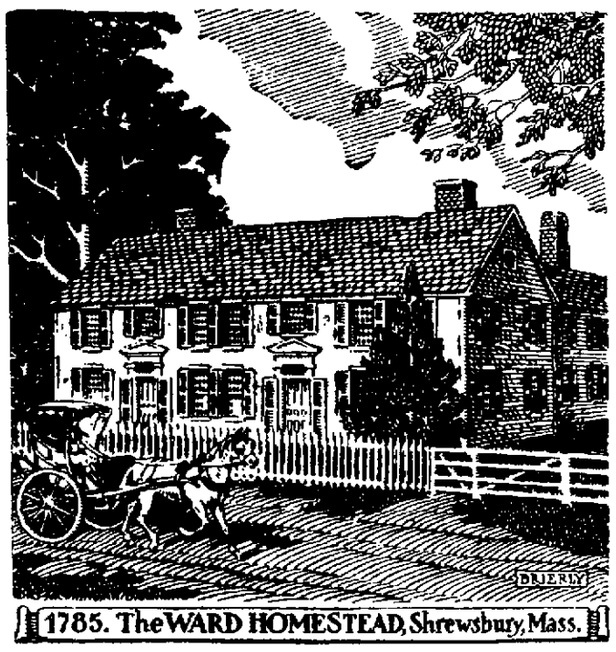
Homes of Famous People



1785. The WARD HOMESTEAD, Shrewsbury, Mass.

By The Associated Press

This old house, on the road from Worcester to Boston, was the home of Gen. Artemas Ward, our first Commander-in-Chief of the Revolution. He was in command at the Battle of Bunker Hill and was responsible for the well organized siege-line which kept the British bottled up in Boston, until Gen. Washington arrived to assume command. Following the war, the General, active politically in building the new nation, was often away from home so, owing to the illness of his wife, persuaded his son and family to live on the farm and, in 1785-6, a "new part" was added to the original seven - room house, changing it into the present imposing 11 room residence, in its picturesque rural setting. Its outstanding feature is the ancient kitchen, with a row of old flintlocks hanging from the ceiling. This was th rendezvous of prominent patriots who, seated before the huge fireplace, discussed methods of resistance to British tyranny, before April 19, 1775.

Mayor Harold F. Robinson today issued a proclamation designating Tuesday, Oct. 27 as Navy Day and Friday and Saturday, Oct. 30 and 31 as Anchor Days in Marion.

Proceeds of the sale of miniature anchors on Anchor Days will be used for the rehabilitation of Navy Veterans, the proclamation explained.

There's Another Name

By Frank Tripp

Who dug up the name "progressives" to designate the repatriates who turned traitor to their country under the spell of Communist indoctrination. Sounds like they picked it themselves; a name that should be tabooed.

Common acceptance of the word "progress," and Webster's definition of it, is "to move forward, grow, gain, advance, improve." We tacitly accept that description of insurrectionists and weaklings when we call them "progressives," even within quotation marks.

Then we wonder why foreigners, particularly Orientals, do not understand us. We don't even understand our most dangerous enemies and parade the misnomer to puzzle half the world.

SMALL WONDER that peoples who must analyze our pronouncements word by word from an English dictionary, striving to gain our meaning, gather weird impressions of our intent.

Imagine them trying to justify our struggle against communism when our own books tell them that our rebels are seeking to grow, advance, improve; while their traitors are shot on mere suspicion of harboring "dangerous thoughts" against their government.

THERE ARE SOME things about jungle justice that might warrant review. Anyway the beasts don't stick their necks out like we do, and invite their own annihilation. They eliminate their enemies; the Reds "purge" them; we coddle them.

We tolerate and humor them to the point of glorification, thus encourage the treacherous, the naive and the ignorant to mass their ranks in safety and arrogant defiance of the land and laws that filled their pockets and stomachs and made them free men. Have we gone overboard in our conception of democracy?

HUMANE JUSTICE can be meted without making idols and martyrs out of seditionists. Human rights belong first to those who fight to preserve them, last to those who would destroy liberty.

Yet the destroyers live and thrive among us, growing in dangerous numbers and strength, parading personal liberty as license to do as they damn please, beneath a canopy of exemption by reason of political preference.

If a philosophy which would wipe man's freedom off the face of the earth is a "political preference," so would be a "Homicide Party" whose members could kill with like immunity.

WHILE NO MAN deserves particular credit for being loyal, still, it is praiseworthy that only about 20 of all American captives became converts of their captors and refused repatriation.

The 20 are paragons of virtue compared to ones who bought the package and came home to secretly spread the poison. Such as the one who spied on his pals, exposed their plans to escape, and was marked for death at their hands, and the one who admitted, "When the revolution comes, trained Communist leaders will be needed in America." What a fall guy, what a sucker.

But no more a sucker than we who would call such traitors "progressives." The loyal soldiers have a name for them, one that the most ignorant of every race can understand:

It is "rat."

Lausche Mum On His Future Political Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The big speculation on Gov Frank J Lausche's future political plans brought this statement from the governor today

"What my course of action politically will be in 1954, I cannot answer at this time

"Whether I will run for the Senate or the governorship or retire to private life, I do not know

"There was, however, no commitment of any character from the newly appointed senator (Mayor Thomas Burke of Cleveland) as to what he should or should not do in 1954"

The speculation followed Lausche's appointment Monday of Burke to fill the vacant seat of Robert A. Taft, late Republican leader in the U. S Senate

Both Lausche and Burke are Democrats, Burke will serve under the appointment until Dec 15 1954 A senator will be elected in November 1954 to complete Taft's term that expires Jan 3, 1957

Reports circulated after the appointment that Burke might stand for election to complete Taft's term and that Lausche might try for a fifth term as governor Other reports reversed these plans for candidacies, with Lausche seeking the senatorship and Burke running for governor

Burke has made no statement on his future political plans.

Norton Day, Saturday, To End Bucyrus Sesqui Celebration

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—The Norton family, which has been active in Bucyrus civic and business life ever since this city was founded in 1819, will be officially recognized Saturday

That day, the closing day of a week long observance by Bucyrus of Ohio's Sesquicentennial, has been proclaimed officially by Mayor Frank P Sitler as Norton Day

The proclamation states that Norton Day is being observed 'in recognition and appreciation of the prolonged service the Norton family has rendered this community with devotion and distinction for the past 134 years"

Samuel Norton and his family arrived on the present site of Bucyrus in October 1819, coming here from Pennsylvania The pioneer party consisted of 18 persons

Six generations of the Norton family have made their homes in Bucyrus with descendants of three generations now living here They include Arthur J Norton, 71, a great-grandson of founder, Samuel Norton, his son Edwin A, 46, and his grandson Dennis O 15, a Bucyrus High School student

Since 1880 the Norton family has been identified with the greenhouse business in Bucyrus Fernando J Norton, father of Arthur, entered the business, started by his father Jefferson, in 1882 after having served several years as a railroad engineer The business now is operated by Arthur and Edwin

While tribute is being paid to the Norton family which has always lived in Bucyrus the McMichael family claims the distinction of being residents of adjoining townships for seven generations since 1819

Daniel McMichael came to Liberty Township, settling eight miles southeast of Bucyrus in the fall of 1819 He established the first gristmill in Crawford County and died in 1925 Succeeding generations include David, born in 1807 and died in 1857 John A, 1842-1901 LeRoy, 1874-1946 Harold G 50 a truck stop operator, Carl, 24 and Carl, Jr, two years old

Edwin Norton is general chairman for the city's sesquicentennial celebration which began Sunday night with union church services Franklin J Roelle a Bucyrus Attorney, is county chairman

The concluding event will be a mammoth historial parade Saturday night About 60 floats and more than a dozen bands are expected to participate The parade will be headed by the Bucyrus City Band, which has been reorganized for the event after being disbanded two years ago City treasurer Glenn Senseney is parade marshal

AEC Head Gets Green Light on Atomic Secrecy Lid

(The writer, former managing editor of the Bulletin of The Atomic Scientists, has been active in Atomic education since 1945).

By MICHAEL AMRINE

WASHINGTON (NANA)—When the President made his press-conference statement last week to the effect that Rusia had the hydrogen bomb and the ability to attack us, he also stated that all his government officials would refrain from speaking on this subject unless they first cleared their statements with the head of the Atomic Energy Commission

It would be hard to say which of the statements by the President had the most historic importance The first had the immediate effect of a slap on the wrist for the Secretary of Defense who had confused the press and such agencies as Civil Defense by saying it would probably be three years before the Russians could drop a bomb on us State civil defense directors had burned up the telephone wires to the federal agency and one Middle West director said that if Washington was going to keep talking down the danger this country faces, he was going to resign and cease trying to get the country interested in volunteering for defense at home

THE SECOND OF THE President's statements also had the effect of putting Secretary Wilson in the back seat, when it comes to talking about atomic danger But in the long run this statement may be the more important because it put the front seat, next to the driver, the AEC chairman, Adm Lewis L Strauss

The Atomic Energy Commission up to now has not been a policy-making agency. And in recent years the threat of secrecy has run the other way—the Defense Department has told the AEC when to keep quiet Now the word will go from AEC to Defense. No observer who has followed the career of Admiral Strauss doubts that the word will be exactly that keep your lip buttoned

Today the head of even the Civil Defense Agency, Val Peterson, former governor or Nebraska, will have to consult the AEC chairman before he discusses big atomic news publicly Peterson has been a foe of secrecy, and has also urged that the American public be told realistically about the dangers it faces Only last week he was criticizing plans for a multimillion-dollar apartment development in downtown Washington, and he actually advised Americans that in the atomic age it would be smarter to move to the outskirts of town No group of Real-estate men objected to his remarks but this was a historic warning of revolutionary implications

THE WEEK'S developments climaxed a trend in the Cold War which had been reversing national policy on atomic energy. The Army developed our first atomic bombs in secret and after World War I maintained strictest secrecy outside of the bare announcements and historic reports made around V-J Day Ten scientists educators and other groups led the fight to place the atomic business under civil control, and to open up on secrecy The latter battle was never successful, but still there was a period when the AEC sponsored many educational affairs, to help the average citizen to an understanding of atomic energy.

Now the head of the AEC, an admiral in the Reserves, but a man who makes no quibbles about being identified with the military, has chosen a professional soldier Gen Kenneth D Nichols, to be the general manager of the commission

The President rounds out the military trio which will make the decisions on more or less atomic formation being given the public For weeks the President has been considering a series of addresses to the country on the subject of Russian and American atomic might, and our need for more defenses This project, called "operation Candor," is now obviously on its way out As the Washington Star editorialized last week "It looks as though 'Operation Candor' is not going to amount to very much Certainly President Eisenhower's press-conference statement adds little or nothing to the sum of public knowledge."

IN EIGHT MONTHS the President has held 15 press conferences The late President Roosevelt held 80 conferences a year, ex-President Truman 40 Former President Hoover held 23 his first year

Admiral Strauss has held no press conferences, and his aides tell reporters they should submit specific questions aimed at specific AEC officials, "preferably in writing"

Strauss summarizes his views on security in the way often expressed by the military. "Too much security when realized can be corrected by relaxing it. Too little security, when it is realized, is beyond correction. It is too late by then There is no use having doors on stables, not to mention locks, after the horse is stolen."

The admiral does not consider that Russia having the atomic and hydrogen bombs means these particular horses are stolen The coming weeks, and the expected tightening of secrecy policies, will show Washington and perhaps the country what has already been shown to the inner circle (including Secretary of Defense Wilson)—Strauss, unlike his AEC predecessors, is out to be the last word on the atom and the first word is going to be 'silence"

Professional Dancing Rugged Art

Ballet Star Follows Spartan Routine

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Violetta Elvin looks like a younger sister of Hedy Lamarr, eats like a railroad section hand, works like a conscientious beaver — and can't afford a Martini.

"It weakens your muscles and affects your knees," she explained.

On those grounds nobody could afford a Martini—someting I've been saying for years, with precious little recognition, too—but it is particularly important to Violetta

She can afford no relaxation that lowers her physical stamina. For health is vital in the Spartan profession of her choice.

Violetta Elvin is a prima ballerina, and in this whole wide wondeful world of women there aren't more than two dozen who can wear that title with any truth.

It is a tough, sublime drudgery to be a prima ballerina, After taking to Violetta, a star of the Sadlers Wells Ballet from London, it is easy to see why this art separates the serious woman from the schoolgirls. But it isn't quite true that ballerinas are born on tiptoe

"I started training in the Bolshoi Theater School in Moscow at 8," said Violetta, who is now 26 and still in training. "Some mothers here think their children should start toe dancing at 3 or 4. But at that age they should only be learning to move with music.

"It is much too early for them to go on their points (or toes). They aren't strong enough. And often they cripple their feet for life trying to please their ambitious, frustrated mothers."

Violetta studied for nine years before making her debut in London. Since then she has appeared at the La Scala Opera House and been featured in three films, including "Melba."

She molds her life to her art. She doesn't smoke, rarely drinks more than a light wine at a meal, tries to spend 10 hours a day in bed sleeping or resting, and incessantly works at keeping herself in peak condition.

"We have to train more constantly than an athlete," she said, "because dancing is a year-around job. And even if you go two days without exercise—well, you can tell the difference in your next performance, whether the audience does or not."

Violetta, a slender, pale - faced, dar-haired girl, has the grace of a black leopard and is as highly tuned as a nervous violin string.

"I lose from three to four pounds during a performance," she said, smiling She recoups with steak or roast beef. Like most ballerinas, she has a light breakfast and two big meat-and-vegetable meals a day.

"There is nothing unusual about ballerinas," Violetta continued, "except that, like any artist, we can't stay still and get satisfied with ourselves. You have to keep perfecting yourself.

"You may dance a ballet role 100 times, 500 times, and still feel you don't really know it. Have I reached my peak? Oh, no. Very far from it. I feel very raw. I have to learn. . .and learn. . . and learn"

She can say this at the age of 26 after 18 years of dancing. How long can she go on?

"Pavlowa died before she was 50, but she was still a ballerina," said Violetta.

In Europe a prima ballerina's take-home pay, for all her years of study and sacrifice, is less than that of an Amerian bricklayer, unless she breaks into the movies.

"It isn't as profitable as wrestling," said Violetta. "What is the reward? There is—how can I say it. — always an excitement in dancing. It is its own reward. Each time it is an experience."

Galion Day Child Care Center Entering 20th Year Activities

Special to The Star

GALION—"To do for themselves, and to do for others" is only one phase of the several-purpose program being offered to this community by the Galion Day Child Care Center.

It will be 20 years ago next January that the center was started in Galion, and at that time was called the Galion Nursery School.

Primarily, the center provides a place for children to stay while their parents are working (this is usually where both parents have to work to maintain a standard of living), but often there are other reasons that care is given a child. Sometimes the mother or father, or both, are hospitalized, sometimes the mothers are widows and must work, and in several instances children have special problems and are benefited by attending the center and associating with other children. Again, there have been times where some mothers are trained nurses, or have had other special training, and have left their services are needed outside the home.

The center in Galion is a Red Feather agency of the Galion Community Chest, and funds from the Chest supplements for a child's care when he or she is from a one-parent home. Usually the parents pay full cost for keep of the children where both parents are working, and there is no illness or reason to keep them from assuming financial responsibility.

What most impresses a visitor to the center (and visitors are welcome), is to see the training and education the children are receiving in their formative years, years when the right training is so vital in the life of a child, according to child psychologists.

The need of social, emotional and mental adjustments for many children has been recognized and met at the Center. Being with other children has proved most beneficial in one case of cerebral palsy where the child was sent to the Center especially for this purpose. One child that had a major emotional problem from babyhood, resulting in a serious nervous condition, has shown considerable improvement at the center.

Children from 20 months to 12 years of age are enrolled. Top enrollment at the school is 50. There are now 41 children in the preschool age group, and nine in the school-age group. There is a waiting list, and more children could be accomodated if there was adequate space.

The Galion Day Child Care Center is one of the earliest in the state. It has been continuous in operation since January, 1934. It was first organized as a nursery school during the depression years when children of lower income families were cared for and properly fed, in addition to being given educational direction. Support was first received from the FERA program, and the WPA, later the Lanham program, and in recent years it has received supplemental funds from the Galion Community Chest as one of the Red Feather agencies of the Chest. From time to time, the center has accepted equipment and gifts from clubs, individuals and groups.

Since 1936, the center has had an advisory council. It was incorporated in October, 1948 and has a board of trustees composed of seven members. There also is a parent group that meets once each month.

The first floor of the center has a kitchen, locker room and office, bathroom and four play rooms in which the tables are used for lunch and educational play, and one room used for a bedroom. Upstairs there are three rooms. At the rear of the home, the large three-car garage has been converted into a play and activities room. Between the house and garage, there is a play yard with slides, swings, teeter-totter and other playground equipment.

Mrs. Sara Beegle, director, began with the nursery school in 1934. Her staff at present consists of Mrs. Evelyn Hollanshead, case worker, Mrs. Bernice Weiland, trained nurse, Mrs. Lawrence Maidens, part-time teacher, Mrs. Alverda Snyder, housekeeper, Mrs. Pearl Duncan who is cook, Chester Stover, principal of the East Elementary School, arrives at 6:30 a.m., to help with school-age children who are there for breakfast and hours before school starts. When a substitute teacher is needed, Mrs. Tillie Shaffer is called in. Since the center has a 12-hour day, Mrs. Maidens was employed to help part time. Another teacher also is needed. During the summer Mrs. Carl Freeman worked with the children, teaching them ceramics.

Survey Forecasts Lower Pork Prices

A survey by the Midwest Farm News Service indicates more hogs will be produced on the nation's farms next year. The service report sees in this trend a probable drop in the price received for hogs.

Figures compiled in the past show that hog prices drop 15 per cent for a 10 per cent increase in the number of animals. While hog prices are high this year pork sales are being competed against by high quantities of beef, broiler chickens and other meats.

The report indicates more hogs next year might mean a return to the times when hog prices dropped far out of line with prices paid for other products.

SET ARMISTICE BREAKFAST

LOOKS LIKE WE ARE GOING TO SEE PLENTY OF FOOTBALL

This year we are seeing a return of the old-fashioned game. The two platoon system is gone for the time at least. Now we have a chance to see what eleven guys can do, offensively and defensively. We like the new set-up. No better place to rehash any game than right here at the Ritz.

Spice Layer Cake Makes a Hit With Everyone

Try a spice cake mix for a family meal or an evening snack. It has an old-fashioned goodness and when topped with frosting and slivered pecans it's pretty as a picture.

All you have to do is add milk and beat. It is convenient for busy mothers, homemakers and career girls.

For picnics, try baking it in a loaf pan. It's a good item for the children's lunch boxes too.

To make a spice party layer cake bake old-fashioned spice cake mix as directed on package in two 8 or 9-inch layers. Cool.

Whip 2 cups (1 pint) whipping cream with rotary beater until stiff. Blend in ¼ cup sugar and 2 teaspoons vanilla with a few additional turns of the beater.

Divide each cooled cake layer into two layers, making four layers in all. Do this by placing heavy sewing thread halfway up side of cake layer. Gently pull thread back and forth in sewing motion to cut through cake.

Spread top of each layer with one-fourth of the whipped cream. Then stack layers and decorate top with slivered pecans or other nuts if desired.

City School Head Addresses Parents

The 1953-54 season of the George night with an open house, business and program meeting attended by approximately 250 parents and teachers. This year's program theme is "Opening New Doors."

Devotions by Hardy Duerson, Sixth Grade pupil, and the Pledge to the Flag opened the meeting. Music included a flute solo by Julie Gorman, accompanied at the piano by Anita Porter, seniors.

Speaker was Supt. Lester L. Dickey whose informal talk was in keeping with the theme "Over the Threshold." He discussed Marion's new schools and said they are outstanding in schools in comparable cities. He presented the keys of the old Greenwood building and those of the new George Washington building to Miss Philomen Gregg, principal who then presented them to the two youngest children of the school, Johnny Williams and Nancy Carol Lusch. Miss Gregg gave a brief talk and introduced the teachers.

Harold Fralich, president, was in charge of the business session. A favorable endorsement was given the amendment providing for a state board of education to be voted on at the November election. Mrs. Robert McCombs, president of the PTA City Council, gave a brief report of the state convention held recently at Cincinnati. The group voted to share the expense of bringing Pasha Tudor, a writer, here at a later date. A social hour and refreshments followed the meeting.

Traffic Officials Urge More Care on Part of Motorists

Traffic enforcement officials are concerned about the next few months because of the increased fatality rate brought on by the longer periods of darkness each day

Marion Police Chief Tom Coon said today that nearly one-fourth of all fatalities and one-third of pedestrian fatalities occur during a three-hour period from 5 to 8 p m during the winter months

He pointed out that during winter more than half of each day is dark and that the traffic fatality rate at night is two to three times the daylight figure

"The determining factor in the number of accidents must be how well one can see" he said and added he hoped that pedestrians and motorists alike in Marion will recognize the danger and drive with more caution at night

A good rule to follow, he said is to drive your car at a speed in which it may be safely stopped in the distance lighted by the headlights In town this can be done if motorists stay within the legal speed limits, he explained On the highway the recommended speed is 45 miles an hour

Another rule is to drive at night or dusk with headlights on and not depend on parking lamps--"they do not give adequate illumination," Coon said

Pedestrians were also cautioned to use more care at night by not walking in roadways, wearing light colored clothing carry a light when walking along the highway and make certain the street or highway is clear of oncoming traffic before crossing.

Bicyclists were reminded by Chief Coon that Ohio law requires bikes ridden at night be equipped with a white light at the front and a red light or reflector at the rear visible from at least 300 feet away

Best method to avoid accidents at night, Chief Coon said is to follow the October traffic slogan and 'Slow Down at Sun Down"
